R. L. Paschal High School

3001 Forest Park Blvd.
Fort Worth, Texas 76110
Produced by
The Yearbook Staff

Dear Mr. Brazzil
turn to 18

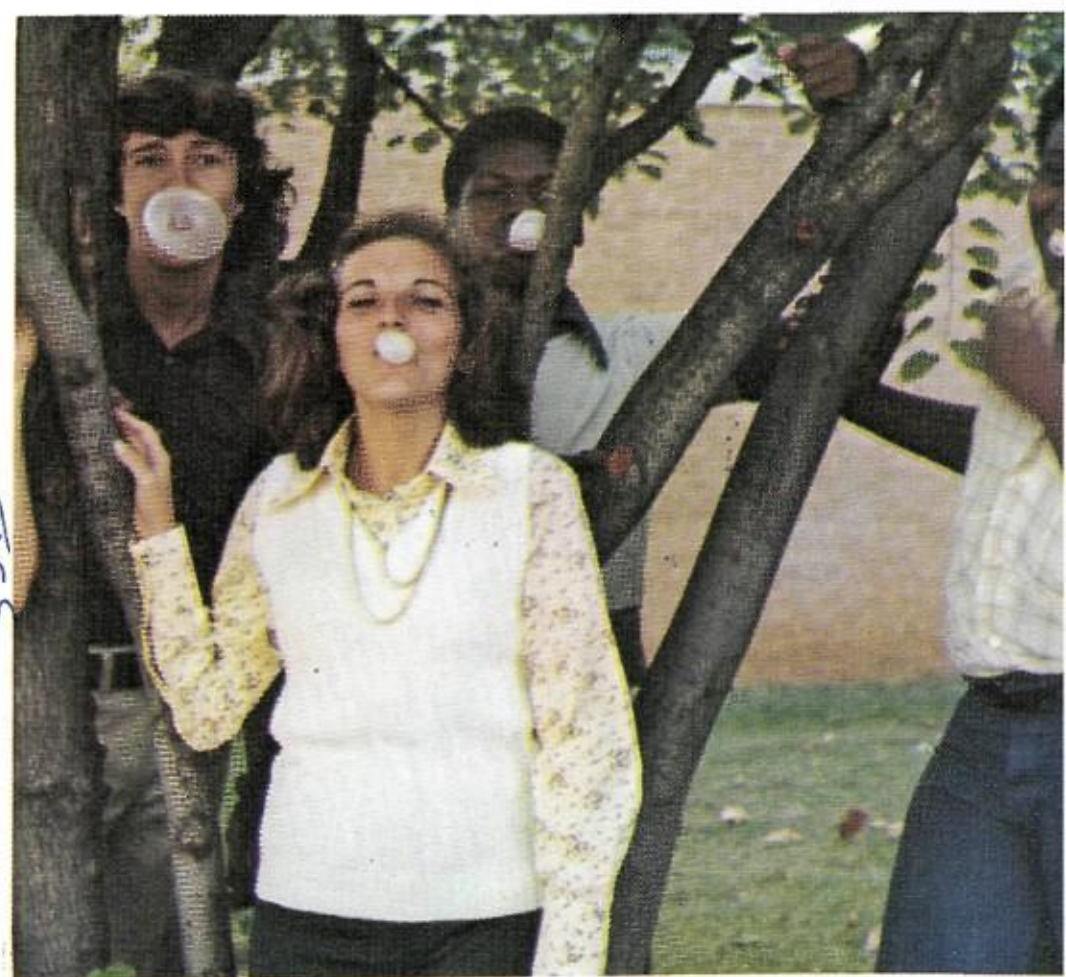

Mr. Brazzil turn to "46"

Brenda W.

Mr. Brazzil,
I sure had a nice time
in biology; I learned a lot too!
I hope you're here next year
see you at the Ranger Games
this summer
John Barley

Mr Brazzill, your a cool teacher, thanks for not turning us in that day.
take care

Tony Gomez

We live in a time of constant change. New morals and values unfold with each generation. The essence of Paschal can no longer be described in a few words, for Paschal, too, has changed. Today, less emphasis is placed on the school as a whole than on the multitude of individuals that make up P.H.S. Each person carries the spirit of Paschal in his unique talents, problems, and ideas. Group endeavors are important to us, but we learn that the most significant things are accomplished within ourselves. Everyone has the need to be an individual, to answer the drummer that he alone can hear.

Talents Discovered in New Experiences

Common Problems Unify Student Body

Upper: "ACH! WO IST DAS ALKA SELTZER?" Preparing German food was a requirement for Mrs. Taylor's Volkfest class. Far Right: "DUH, I THOUGHT 'X' STOOD FOR LINEBACKER." Barry Luskey leads Jon Box through a Trig problem. Lower Center: On a brisk November day, Sherial Temple and Tony Martin resign themselves to working on their term themes. Lower Left: Paula St. Clair and Brian Ferguson conduct an experiment in the advanced chemistry class.

Study and Research Increase Awareness

Individuals Enhance Group Efforts

Far Left: Several members of the Senior class prove the value of a high school education. Well, the world needs good softball players, too. Upper Middle: The contributions of many individuals are required to produce the Daily Bulletin. Melvin Wiley and Doug Wilson print copies to be distributed throughout the school. Upper Right: "WHICH WAY TO THE ARK?" Elaine Walters, Sherry Rice, Michelle Schultz, Tanya Hicks, and Susan Shapter try to keep dry on one of those many rainy Autumn days. Lower: "DO WE HAVE TO EAT THIS STUFF?" Joan Hill, Mike Reeves, Carolyn Smith, Mike Duncan, and Claudia Williams discover the culinary joys of Home and Family Living.

Paschal's many distinctive activities provide students with the chance to get involved with others and with the school. Through our cooperation in these efforts, we not only better ourselves, but also contribute to the spirit and unity of PHS.

ACTIVITIES

"HEY, YOU GOT A CHERRY AND I DIDN'T!" Jeri Henry enjoys the 300-foot banana split anyway.

Classrooms Teach Facets Of Performing Arts

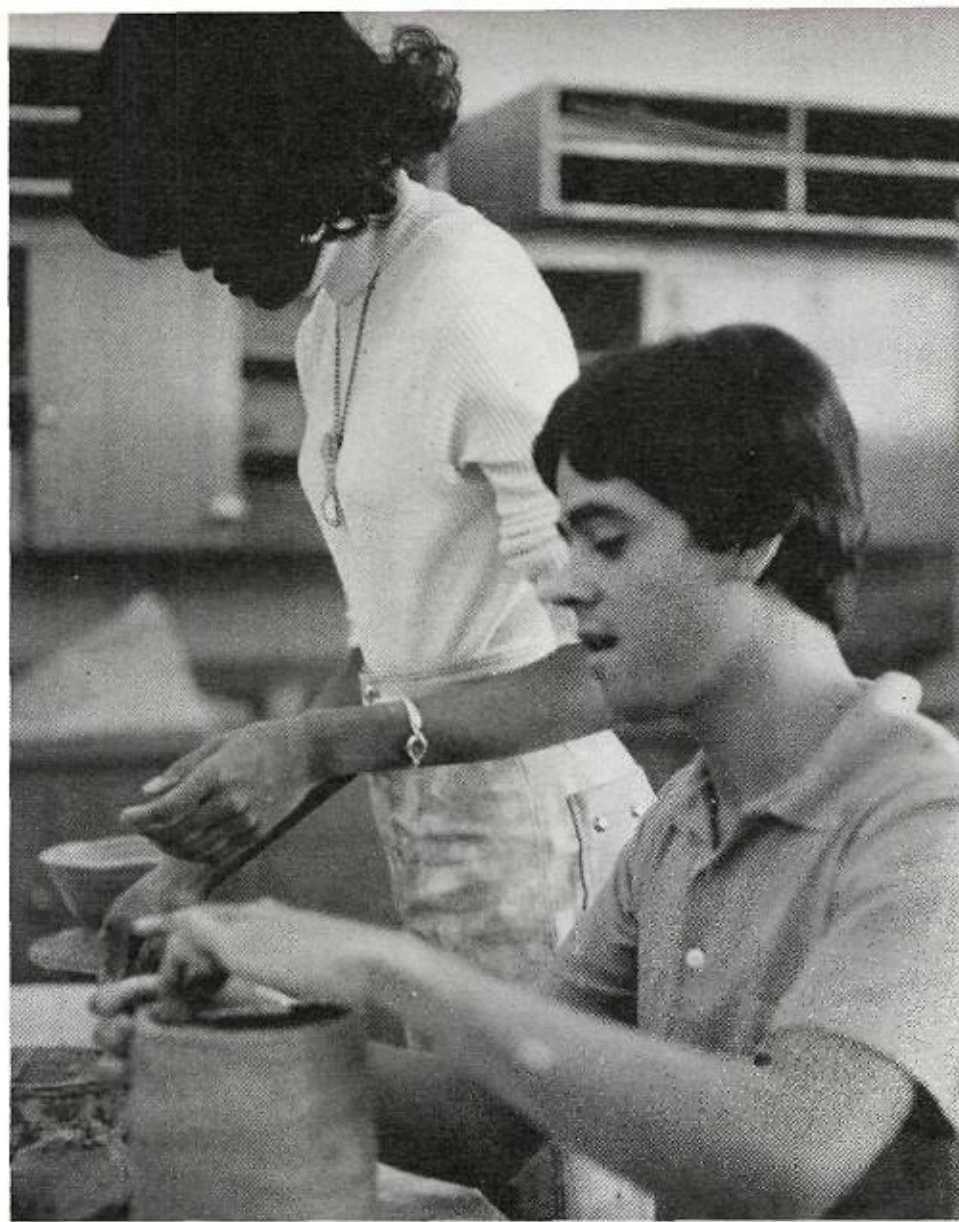

Music, speech, and drama are sometimes called the performing arts. These include the orchestra, various choruses and bands, and speech and drama classes. In these classes, interested students learn all the facets of their particular art. In music, they learn the different stages of music from the music's history to its modern characteristics. The speech and drama classrooms are designed to teach the techniques of speaking on the stage and to audiences and to improvise parts. These arts are offered to students of all grades and provide for an important part of the curriculum of Paschal.

Skillful Hands Master Arts

Among the many courses offered here at Paschal are art and the industrial arts. In art, students learn to work with oil and water paintings, pottery, and other crafts. This year, included in the class curriculum, was a session on Japanese art, presented by Mr. Haruo Abbe, a visiting teacher from Japan.

In addition to art, students may also choose from the industrial arts. These arts allow both boys and girls to work with various machines in metal and wood shop, engines in power mechanics, and mechanical drawings in drafting.

Students Take Look Into Past

Paschal's history department offers the student many different types of classes. Juniors have the chance to take American Culture and Thought which combines American History and English 5-6. Seniors have the chance to take Modern British Studies which combines British History and English 8. In these classes the history is combined with the literature to give the student a chance to see how the two are related.

Other classes offered to the students include Texas, World, and American History, government, and European Studies. Through these classes the student learns how things were done in the past and how to prepare for the future.

Upper: WHAT'S THE ANSWER! Mrs. Rambo's fourth period American History class works hard to complete their assignment. Lower Left: Carol Cramm, Kathy Kinard, Andre Taylor, and Charlotte Berger have a group discussion in Modern British Studies. Lower Right: Gwen Harris lends an ear as she listens to one of Miss Henderson's government lectures.

Foreign Languages and English Departments Offer Old With New

This year the foreign language department is offering a multitude of new courses. Everything is being offered from learning how to run a business in France to comparing the cultures of different countries. The new courses provide a welcome change in the previous curriculum and bring new ideas to an otherwise traditional department.

Writing compositions, term themes, and memorizing "Friends, Romans, Countrymen" is still very much a part of the English department at Paschal. Along with literature, teachers still stress the importance of grammar in their classes. Even though most of the material covered in English is standard, teachers are continually updating their methods.

New Innovations Promote Science

In a world filled with technology, science is of the utmost importance. Since two years of science are required for graduation, most students enroll in general physical science as freshmen then take biology as sophomores. By omitting GPS, it is possible for freshmen to take biology and continue with chemistry. This offers upperclassmen the opportunity to further their study by taking Chemistry III-IV, physics, or Biology III-IV. Accurate equipment, skilled instructors, and precise information stimulate interest in science.

Vocational Courses Offered In Wide Variety

In the field of business education, students have the option of choosing from both beginning and advanced courses. Paschal offers courses in beginning secretarial training such as typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, and office training through VOE and CVAE. Offered to the freshmen and sophomores is a course in general business which teaches business techniques for everyday living. Still other vocational electives are offered that are beneficial for personal use as well as vocational purposes.

Math Courses Interest Students

For any interested in math Paschal offers many courses. After the student's required classes of Algebra 1-2 and geometry, the student may continue if he wants to. The courses which the student can take include Algebra 3-4, trigonometry, elementary analysis and calculus. The student can also take independent study classes such as The History of Math and Number Theory. For the first time a Calculus 2 class is to be offered at Paschal.

Home-ec Related Work Enhances Learning

Although the woman's place is no longer just in the home, home economics is still important. In addition to general homemaking courses, home and family living, Home Economics Co-operative Education (HECE) and Child Development are offered. Students in these programs learn to cook, sew, care for families, hold home-ec related jobs, and study the development of children. This field is not limited to girls only. Each year a growing number of boys sign up for courses in the once all female department.

Co-Ed P.E. Classes Interest Students

Amid mind-stimulating courses, Paschal calls time out as emphasis shifts to the physical education department. Innovation, time and equipment team together to offer students that field of P.E. most appealing to them. Girls may take rhythm, tennis or swimming instead of general P.E. and boys can sign up for individual sports such as football and basketball. In addition, the required one and one half credits open opportunities for those less active to experiment with gym equipment, volleyball, and other related sports. This class gathered new life with co-ed P.E.

Paschal Sees a New Mode of Transportation

This year for the first time, Paschal is offering a class in aviation. Paschalites learn about the mechanics of the plane and the techniques of flying. Under the careful guidance of Coach John Harville, students take first steps in becoming our pilots of tomorrow.

A more popular and common class though is driver's education. Students must participate in three different phases of the course. In the classroom, students learn basic driving skills which they later apply both in the simulator and behind the wheel driving. After having completed these three steps, the student is eligible to receive the coveted "drivers license."

Registration Begins School Year

As calendars marked the end of summer, an unusually cool breeze blew through the halls coinciding with registration. On August 29 and 30 every senior and undergraduate chose teachers and classes for the fall term. PSOP and Leadership Committee members guided students to class divisions and assisted in schedule planning. After registration 1974 Panther supplements were distributed.

PSOP Sponsors Howdy Dance

Concluding Howdy Week, the Howdy Dance put the swing back in school. Round-Up Inn hosted the social festival, which welcomed both old and new students to the start of another year. Dancers jived to the music of First State Bank while talking over summer activities. PSOP, sponsoring the dance to unify Paschal, used ticket money to benefit the organization throughout the year.

Howdy Week Starts School Year

Highlight of Paschal's Howdy Week was the construction of a 300 foot banana split. With the help of the Leadership Committee and PSOP, Paschal students enjoyed the fun of eating the dairy delight. Local newspapers and television stations came to Paschal to cover the big event. The Howdy Carnival, sponsored by the Leadership Committee, helped acquaint freshmen with the excitement that reigns at Paschal. Another important event in the week's activities was the Friday booth day in the front foyer. Each of Paschal's many organizations set up a booth so that newcomers could learn about the clubs. Howdy Week activities climaxed with a spirited pep rally for the Poly game.

Upper Left: Stuart Balcom speeds around the course as he races to victory in the bicycle race sponsored by the French Club. Upper Right: Terri Hall and Kirk McCarley, along with other members of PSOP, help prepare the 300 foot banana split for the Paschal student body. Lower Left: Leadership Committee members Pam A. Roach and Meredith Burton talk to McDonald's manager Roy White about getting orange drink for the Howdy Carnival. Lower Center: Tony Rizo and David Burruss watch as AFS members Oujian Rasmusen and Barbara Horan blindfold Dempsey Silva for the "Pin the Country" booth at the Howdy Carnival. Below: PSOP member Paula Pike digs a little deeper into the ice cream as she helps build the banana split.

Parents — Faculty Express Ideas

On Tuesday night, October 8, the annual Open House gave the students' parents an opportunity to visit with the teachers. At 7:00 p.m., Paschal's Stage Band welcomed the parents by entertaining them with their musical abilities. Later, with the PSOP ready to help them, the guests dispersed to visit with various teachers. Members of the Parent-Teacher Association were on hand with refreshments in the front foyer to complete the night's activities.

Panthers Display Good Spirit

Students shout and spirits come alive as the cheerleaders and the school mascot lead the Panthers in various cheers. Pep rallies are one of the traditions of the school to let the athletes know that the student body is behind them all the way. With the help of the B-team cheerleaders, the PSOP, and PAWS, the varsity cheerleaders go all out to prove that they support their team. Members of the PSOP add a little humor to each rally by presenting skits. After the traditional "Silent Yell," the playing of the Alma Mater concludes each spirited event.

Panthers' Spirit Explodes With Arrival of Homecoming

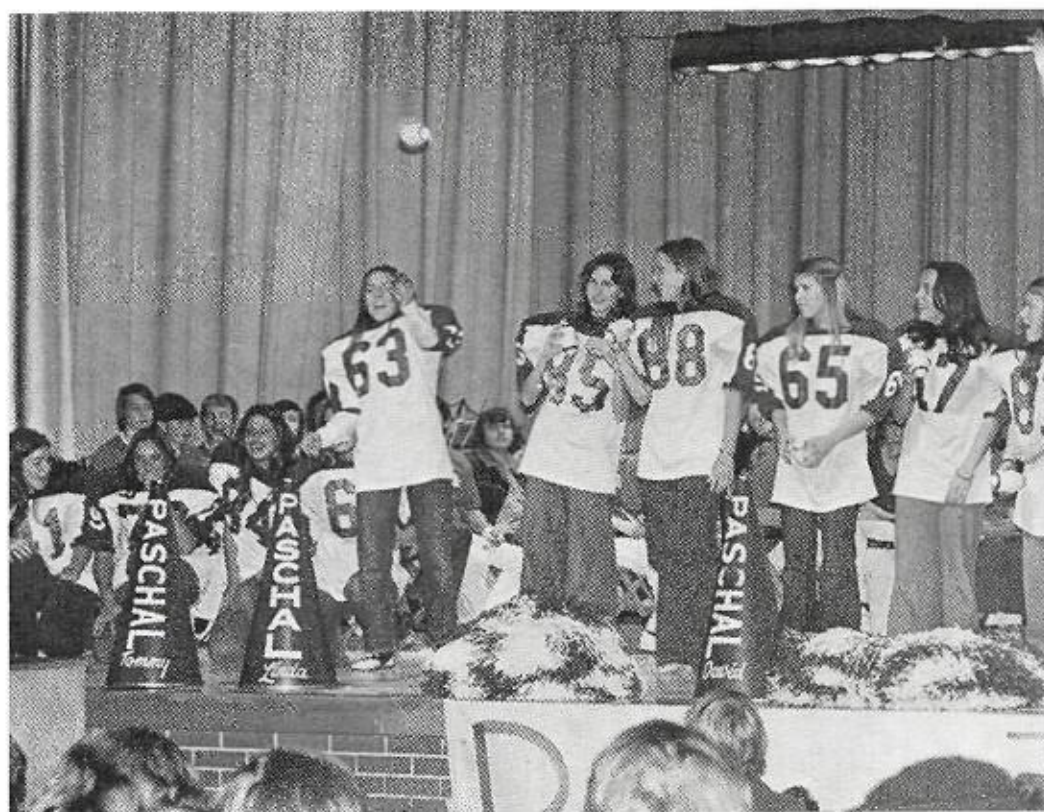

Homecoming festivities began with the arrival of the exes and their president Terry Hedrick. The committee of exes began their day by talking to the candidates for queen, judging the halls, and choosing the winners of the homeroom decoration contest.

After an exhilarating pep rally students both former and present adjourned, meeting later at Farrington Field. Halftime saw the crowning of the homecoming queen Ginger Ellis, escorted by her father Dr. Dan G. Ellis. Even though Arlington Heights spoiled Paschal's district chances, the Yellow Jackets didn't entirely dampen the Panthers' spirits. Students and exes danced until midnight to the music and Beatle medleys of First State Bank.

Students Portray Teachers in Drama

The drama production of Ben Kaufman's "Up The Down Staircase" brought out the talent of the Vagabond players. After many hours of hard work and rehearsals, the play, under the direction of Miss Cathy Stevens, was presented for the public in Paschal's small auditorium. The production characterized a novice teacher at her first teaching job in a classroom full of disruptive students.

The performance of Wednesday night, October 30, was followed by a repeat Thursday morning, October 31. The Wednesday night production was followed by the stage tradition of a cast party to celebrate the success of the play.

Far Left: Miss Stevens gives stage instructions to J. D. Moore and Brian Faherty at one of their many rehearsals. Upper Left: PLEASE COME OUT FROM BEHIND THE CURTAINS! J. D. Moore as the principal, and Randy Beardsley as a student, set one of the situations of the play. Above: Members of the cast take time for last minute preparations and instructions before entering the stage. Bottom Left: HOW COULD I FAIL THAT TEST? Vagabonds Maria Schultz and Stori Smith portray student and teacher in one of the classroom scenes. Left: TO BE OR NOT TO BE . . . Stori Smith, Mike Johnston, and Jill Turnbow depict teachers in the vagabond play.

Santa Leads Way to Mid-Winter Break

Holidays mean merry days and merry days mean varied activities. The Leadership Committee led the parade by erecting a Christmas tree in the front foyer while office personnel decorated their windows. Mrs. Pat Atkinson set Paschal humming with her chorus-orchestra program, leaving holiday drama in hands of the Vagabond Players and La Societe Francaise.

Organizations and classes sprang to life with parties, benefit programs, and contests. Following Chanukah the Hebrew club held its annual falaffel party at the Jewish Community Center. While some people were dressed in Santa suits for the LC Santa Claus contest, most students were in their Sunday best for Charlie Turner Day. The LC also registered those interested in the beard growing contest.

Student Body Presents 'A Night on the Town'

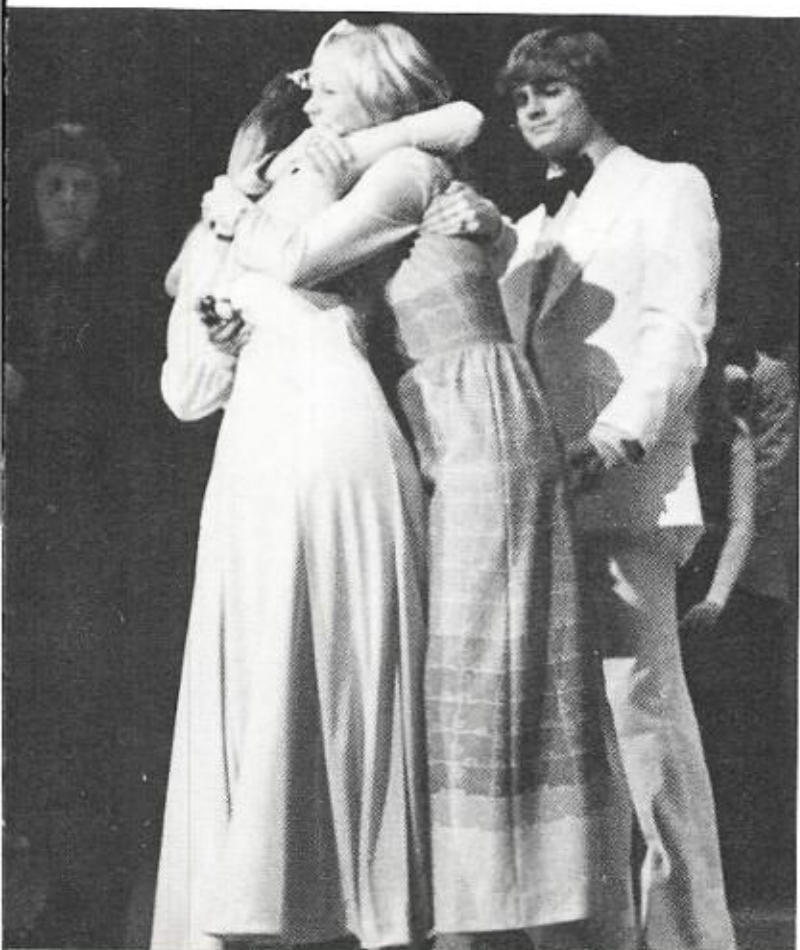

Outside the closed auditorium doors students, parents, and visitors await the opening of the 1975 Sports Follies. As the lights dim and the music softens, the Masters and Mistresses of Ceremony Hugh Redd, David Chatman, Jill Turnbow, and Debbie Tseng begin the senior boy-girl line dance. The variety show gives the talented students an opportunity to express themselves through song and dance. The last event of the evening was the presentation of the nominees for Sports Follies Queen. At the Wednesday performance the winner was Jan Tucker; Judy May was crowned queen Thursday night.

Relaxing Atmosphere Theme at Dance

One of the more recent traditions here at Paschal is the PAWS Backwards Dance. This year, casually dressed, Paschalites danced to the music of Rags and Bones. R. D. Evans Recreation Center proved to be a great place to hold this dance with its success being attributed to student response.

Red Cross Obtains Student Goal

When disasters strike and first aid is required the Red Cross answers the emergency. Each year every student has the opportunity to donate to this beneficial organization in support of its effectiveness. Under the guidance of teacher-sponsor Mr. Ralph James a group of students headed the fund-giving drive. This year Terena Wirt, Melanie Simmans, Sharon Shyroc, and Rosa Alvarado kindled the flame which totaled a sum of over $80.00. During the fourth period of each day, the first quarter, planning sessions were held and responsibilities delegated. Posters hung in the halls, tables in the front foyer, a personal talk, and printed information to each teacher were part of the activities publicizing the importance of Red Cross.

Top: "I'LL TAKE THAT, PLEASE." Sharon Shyroc and Rosa Alvarado receive money for the Red Cross from Don Jett. Kim Everett and Melinda Cato keep a watchful eye. Middle: "IT'S ALL VERY SIMPLE." Terena Wirt and Melanie Simmans tell Mrs. Barnes and Anthony Johnson about the Red Cross organization. Right: "LEAVE SOME FOR ME!" Mr. James, helps his club members Sharon Shyroc, Rosa Alvarado, Terena Wirt and Melanie Simmans total donations.

Ranch Day Entices "Hairy" Students

Annual Ranch Day activities brought cowboy hats, boots, and beards to the halls of Paschal. The highlight of Ranch Day was the beard-growing contest sponsored by the Leadership Committee. The categories in the beard-growing contest included fullest, longest, youngest, and most unusual beard. The Leadership Committee encouraged students to dress in the appropriate Western way for the day's activities.

Love Spread Throughout Paschal

Love invaded Paschal once again as the students celebrated Valentine's Day. Many clubs of Paschal helped share the joy of love. Future Medical Careers went to the Arlington Heights Nursing Home and entertained the residents there on Valentine's Day. The Chorus sold carnations for students to give to their friends and the Penta Club sold valentines to be delivered to individuals during classes.

Upper: David Levy plays a tune while Dani Livingston waters the Valentine tree. Center: Members of Future Medical Careers serve refreshments to the residents of the Arlington Heights Nursing Home. Lower: Lydia Hester buys a valentine from Penta Club member Amy Hayes in the front foyer.

Dreams Do Come True

Centered around the theme "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," the Senior Girls presented their traditional formal. This gala affair began the senior activities. Along with the music of Midnight, Green Oaks Inn provided an ideal setting for the dance. For many, dining at a chic restaurant preceded the evening's activities. During the dance, the senior boys honored the basketball team for their outstanding season's record. The evening ended with the realization that dreams do come true.

Top: IF THEY COULD SEE ME NOW . . . # Presidential Classroom Creates an Awareness of National Government

Allowing junior and senior high school students to study government at the nation's capitol for one week is the main objective of the Presidential Classroom for Young Americans. This week involves listening to speakers such as William Colby, director of the CIA, and Richard Kleindienst, a former Attorney General. Students tour the city visiting famous landmarks and monuments. In addition to these cultural pursuits, students attend an evening production at the Kennedy Center. Participants also spend a day on Capitol Hill listening to Committee hearings, meeting senators and representatives, and seeing them on the floor of the House and Senate. A banquet climaxes an educational and exciting week.

Assemblies Enrich Student Life

Special programs help break the monotony of the students' life at Paschal. These assemblies are staged to enrich the students' learning at school. This year programs included the Air Force Stage Band, a group from the Federal Correctional Institute, Phil Alpha and the Mystics, and Fashion Careers by Simplicity Pattern Company. Student organizations and outside groups helped organize these programs.

Paschal's Leadership Committee, the executive branch of our student government, consists of seven representatives from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes and three representatives from the freshman class. L C activities this year include planting crepe myrtles, presenting a holiday program, installing trash cans, and helping at registration. The main goal has been to improve communications and involve the student body in school related activities. Creation of a sixteen-member cabinet to aid in special class activities is still another of this year's L C achievements. A Paschal Blood Bank has also been established. Money from donations was given to the Humane Society.

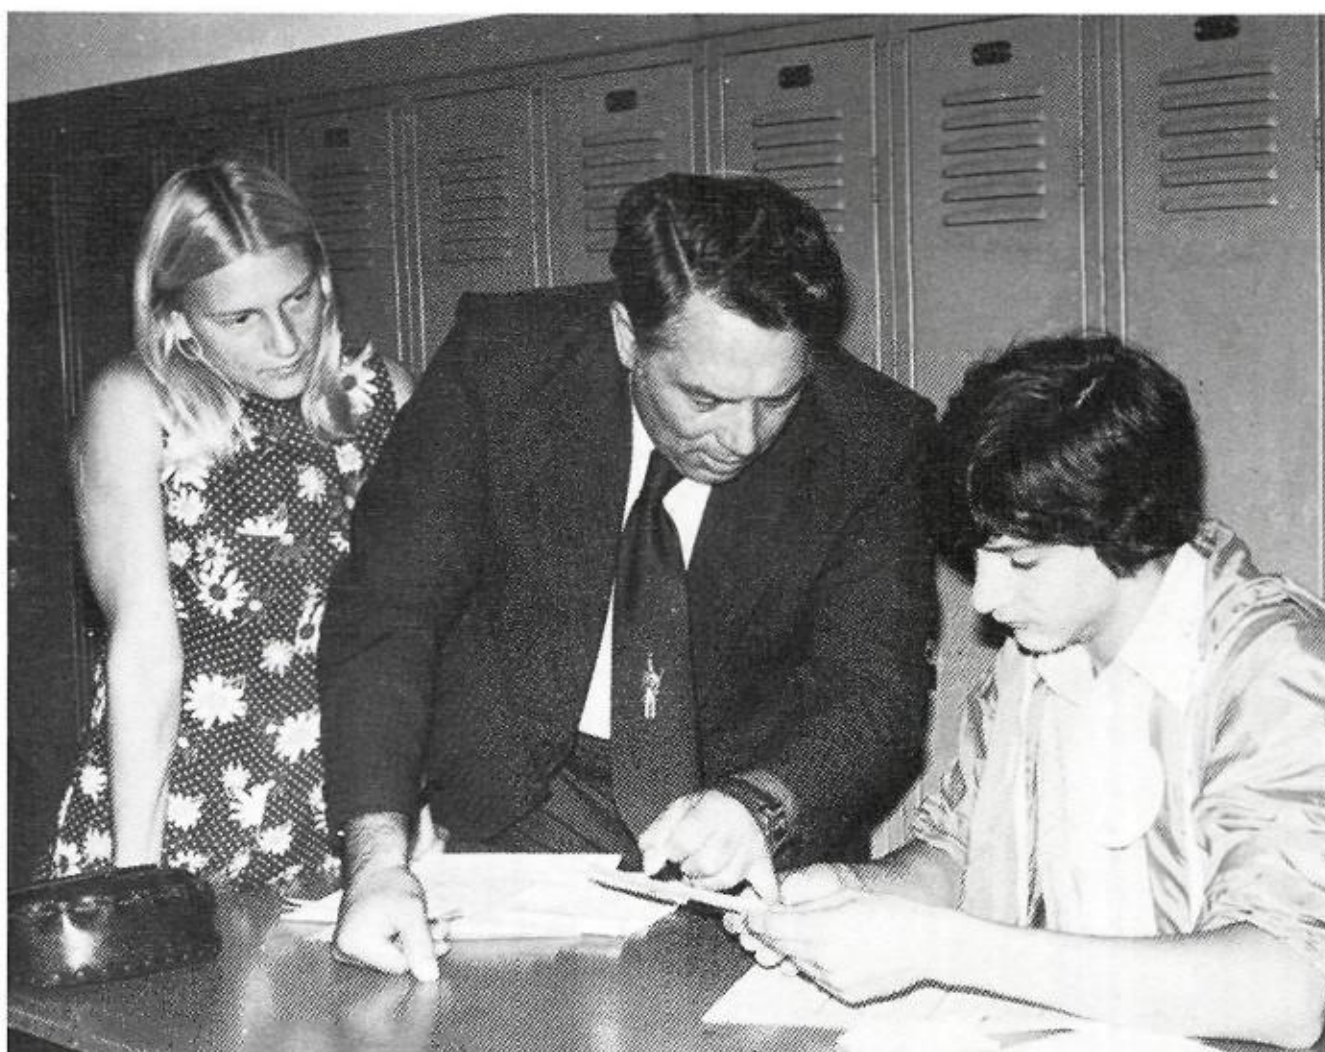

Dear Mr. Brazzil,

I just want you to know that you're one of my most very favorite teachers. You're such a good teacher, I truly hope they let you stay because the sophmores next year will be missing a really fantastic teacher. I've had a whole lot of fun in your classes.

I think this last one has been the best one even

Students Frequent Various Hangouts

Because of an increase in mobility, Paschal students enjoy more free time away from school. Colonial Cafeteria provides a variety of food while Easy Street, a new soda fountain, specializes in ice cream. Poise'n Ivy, a unique dress shop, is a popular place for girls to shop. Each year Paschalites are drawn to different places where they "hang out".

Upper: Vicki Horan, Chris Strittmatter, Jimmy White, Danny Davis, Bruce Hopkins, and Sharon Snodgrass relax at Colonial Cafeteria after school. Middle: Leah Kahanek, Michelle Haas, and Christi Kelley take advantage of a sale at Poise'n Ivy. Lower: "DID YOU HEAR THE ONE ABOUT . . ." Yolanda Manley, Becky Peterson, Kevin Tindell, and Bill Ray enjoy a Coke at Easy Street.

Fashion-Minded Students Fill the Halls

Styles of past and present years come to life in the halls of Paschal. Various styles to suit various personalities can often be seen during passing periods and lunch periods. The many different lengths of dresses and skirts display the modern and the "old" modes. Luckily for Paschal students, the styles of today are as vast as their personalities, ranging from jeans and overalls to dresses and slacks.

Paschal Keeps Step With Political Affairs

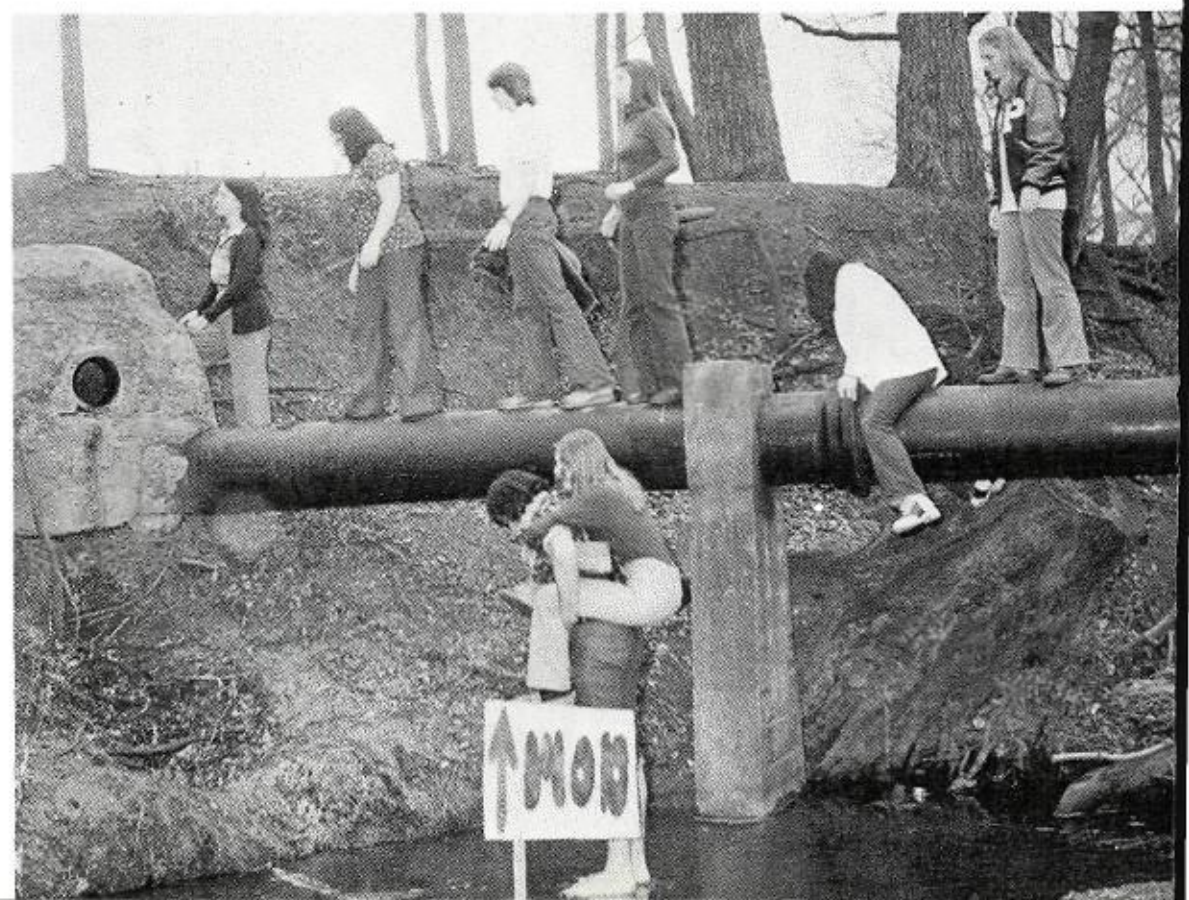

Paschal, though unique in itself, is not totally unaffected by the world. National, state, and community affairs play a heavy role in the lives of students as each becomes involved in available activities.

Politics took priority as Richard Nixon resigned from his Presidential post leaving Gerald Ford, Chief Executive. About midyear, Congress approved Nelson Rockefeller for the Vice Presidency, creating for the first time a President and Vice President not publicly elected to office.

Amid the continued energy crisis, Fort Worth improved its image with the completion of the downtown Water Gardens. Always willing to help a needy organization, some PHS students participated in the March of Dimes annual walkathon.

Top: Senior Paul Higgins, exercised his right to vote in the November election as 18 year olds of the State took to the polls. Middle Right: Brooks and Bryan Smith, Pam Medlin, Karen Cunningham, David Lincoln, Ricky and Sharon Lowman gather with their gas saving cars to fight the energy crisis. Above: In the heat of Watergate trials, President Nixon resigned his post as Dale Pierce and Jeanie Northcutt read about the event in a newspaper. Right: THAT'S WALKING A FINE LINE! # Senior Class Keeps Busy With Activities

Seniors lead the way in class activities and have fun during the year. In the fall, magazine sales and the ordering of cap, gown, and invitations for graduation are high points. Government classes, the SAT, and ACT tests are reminders to everyone that the final high school year isn't all play. In the winter seniors select the class flower, color, and motto and the Senior Girls sponsor a roller skating party and participate in the Sports Follies. During the spring the Senior Dinner Dance and Senior Girls' Formal are bitter-sweet reminders that the final year is soon to end.

Variety Enhances Student Activities

Interested in activities that allowed for participation, each student sought his own place in Paschal. The tradition of honoring Charlie Turner was open to all students this year as both girls and boys dressed up in honor of his contribution to Paschal basketball. Some involved themselves in the Leadership Committee's project of sponsoring a blood bank where the proceeds went to the Humane Society. Many other worthwhile projects, programs and general activities increased individual participation.

Panther's Preseason Best in Years, 3-2

Paschal began this fall's football season with a 10-6 victory over Highland Park. The Panthers rushed 247 yards led by the running of Derek Page and Mark Warner. Jon Box recovered a Scottie fumble in the opening quarter to set up Warner's tally. Jim St. Louis added a 32 yard field goal in the third period to complete the Panther's scoring. The Purples continued their winning ways with a 24-6 triumph over Poly. Ross Morgan, Derek Page, and Mark Warner ran over touchdowns with Jim St. Louis adding three PATs and a 30 yard field goal.

Paschal lost their first game of the season after traveling to Longview to play the state-ranked Lobos. The final was 28-6 with Derek Page carrying over Paschal's lone TD. Paul Gallagher led the Panthers over Dunbar 31-6 with two touchdowns, one an interception return. Mark Warner scored two more TDs as Paschal rushed for 235 yards. Jim St. Louis chipped in his third field goal of the year upping the team record to 3-1. Eastern Hills surprised Paschal with their second loss of the year to end pre-district on a sour note. Paul Gallagher and David Pennybacker racked up the Panther's only two TDs in the 35-13 loss.

Win Over Southwest Highlights District

In the district opener, Paschal's regenerated defense kept Carter in check most of the game. Carter capitalized on a Panther fumble recovery, scoring six in the first period. A try for two proved the fatal play with the Panther defense stopping them short. Paschal drove the length of the field on the next series behind the running of Mark Warner and Derek Page. Warner capped the drive plunging one yard for the tally. Jim St. Louis kicked the PAT that earned him 10AAAA player of the week and Paschal a 7-6 triumph.

Southwest challenged Paschal in the second district game and the Panthers responded with 254 yards rushing and a 20-3 victory. Jon Box recovered a SW bobble to set up the first of Paul Gallagher's two TDs. Derek Page added one touchdown and St. Louis booted two PATs. Gallagher was rewarded, being named the 10AAAA player of the week.

Paschal had a field day against Western Hills with 305 yards rushing. Eugene Moore nabbed 10AAAA player of the week, Paschal's third straight, leading the Purples with TDs of two and 47 yards. Ross Morgan ran for one touchdown and passed to Gary Froman for another. Gallagher added a fifth TD and St. Louis connected on five PATs. Western Hills was unable to score for a final of 35-0.

Paschal Ends Year 6-4 District Record 3-2

Arlington Heights crushed Paschal's homecoming and district chances by handing them their first district loss of 29-0. The Panther defense kept the Jackets in check during the first half allowing only one TD. Paschal's only real threat came when a 47 yard pass from Ross Morgan to David Pennybacker put them on the 31 yard line. The next three plays proved futile and a Jim St. Louis field goal was short. Heights gained momentum throughout the third quarter adding two more TDs and a successful try for two. Paschal was held to eight first downs and 134 yards rushing. Derek Page was the leading ground gainer with 50 yards.

Paschal closed out their most successful season in years with a disappointing 7-6 loss to Northside. Both teams displayed tough defense as they played to a scoreless tie at halftime. Paschal began to roll with a long march down field capped by Derek Page's touchdown plunge. Jim St. Louis kicked a good point after for a 7-0 lead. A Jim St. Louis 51 yard field goal attempt fell short by inches in the final seconds.

Junior Varsity Posts Winning Record

Paschal football is riding high again as the "B" team posted its first winning record in four years. Although losing many prime underclassmen to the Varsity, it recorded a respectful 6-4 season and went 3-2 in district play. Backs Tommy Taylor, John Chandler, and Daren Page led an offense that thumped North Side 54-0 in the last game of the season. Secondary backs Randy Rambo and Olin Gainer, linemen Ronnie Cecil, Paul Basaldu, and Nicki Stauzenberger were outstanding performers at defensive positions. Coaches Jimmie Crowder and George Taplin deserve recognition for this successful team which will certainly prove Paschal to be the best in the future.

Frosh Capture Crown Looks Toward Future

Paschal's great freshman team won district and completed another successful season with a decisive victory over North Side 22-16. Led by a stingy defense, half of their opponents failed to score, while four managed lone touchdowns. Standouts on the '74 team were backs Billy Weimer, Danny Zabal, and Thomas Williams, while Tommy Ayers and Arthur Kirby led the linemen. Coaches John Branson and Jim Wall have done a fine job.

Wall's Warriors Foil Foes

Spurred on by a dramatic victory over Dallas South Oak Cliff, Coach Jim Wall's basketballers raced to an awesome 17-1 preseason record. While prepping for the tough district race ahead, Paschal claimed two prestigious tournaments: the West Side Lions and the Oak Cliff JC Basketball Classic held in Dallas.

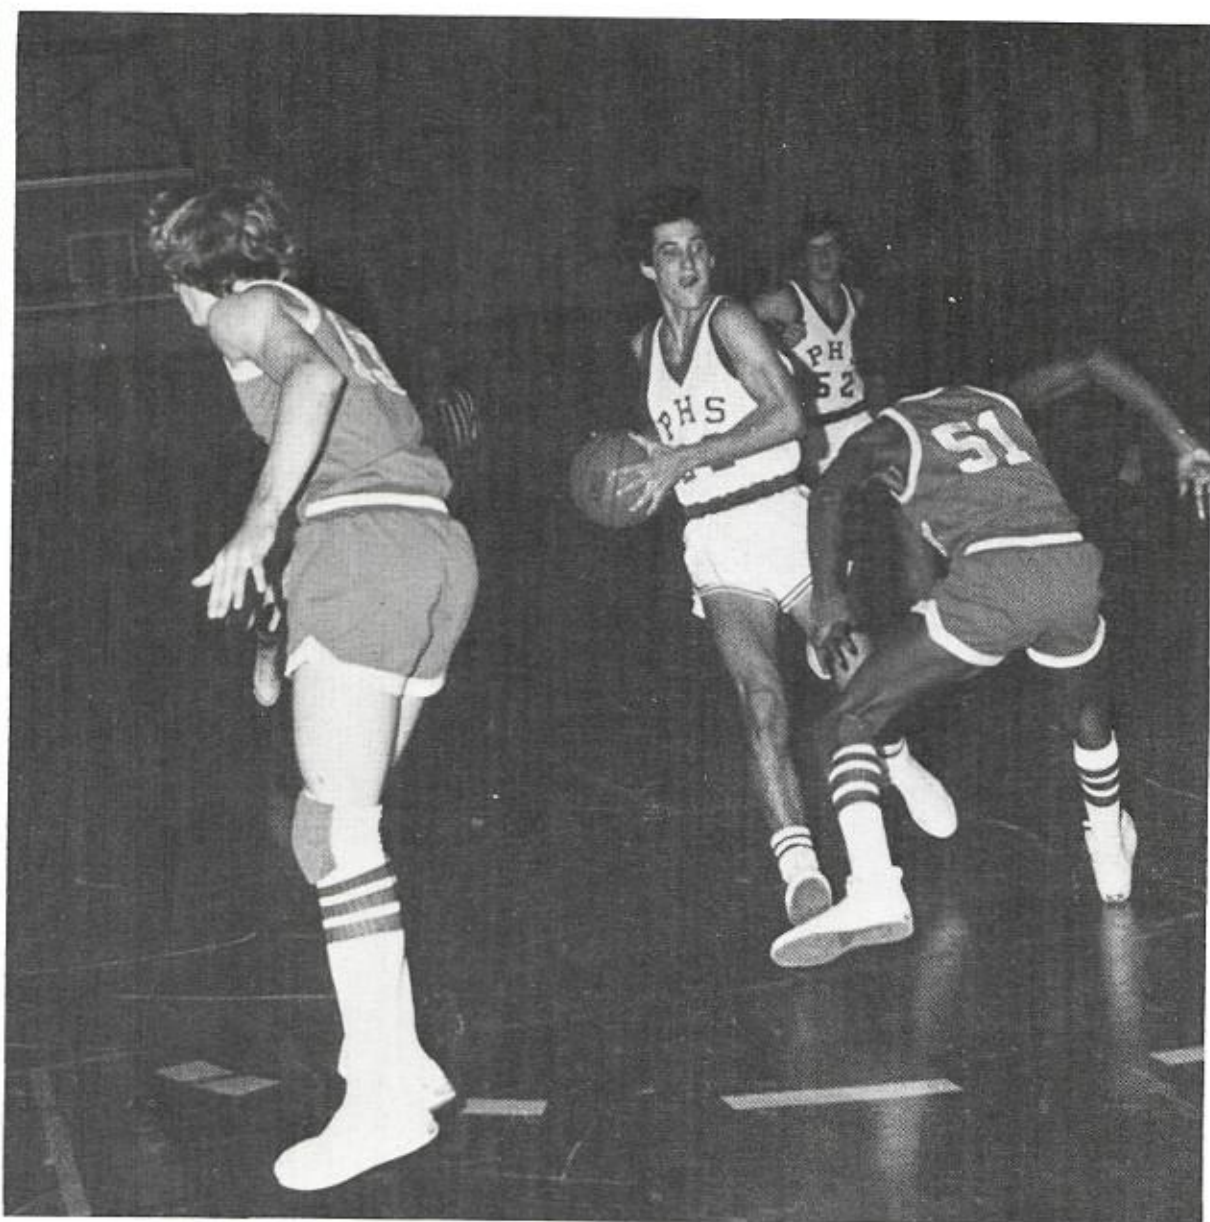

Led by All-State candidates John Schlicher (19.3 avg.) and Wendell Mays (20.7 avg.), the Panthers had great success in their "faster" style of play. Post Gerald Batty (13.8 avg.), guard Bruce Baird (10.6 avg.), and either Clay Bibb (2.8 avg.), Michael Roberts (4.1 avg.), or Larry Smith (4.0 avg.), rounded out Wall's talented quintet. Also seeing plenty of action on the hardwood floor were Brian DeCoverly (5.6 avg.), Park Van Nest (1.3 avg.), Allen Barnard (1.3 avg.), Johnny Ray Farmer (1.5 avg.), and B. G. Hopkins (1.8 avg.).

Quartet Honored For Superb Play

Wendell Mays sported All-American and All-State honors as well as the All-District postman of 4A-10. His ability to intimidate opposing big men and to snare crucial rebounds made him an important cog in the Panther team.

John Schlicher was selected All-American, All-State, and MVP of District 4A-10. His dead-eye shooting, deceptive passing, and overall floor savvy was one reason Paschal dominated play on both ends of the court.

Gerald Batty was picked second team All-District at forward. Versatile both as a tough rebounder and a second inside scoring threat, Gerald displayed a constant knack for coming up with the loose ball.

Bruce Baird received honors as second team guard in 4A-10. Deadly from long range, he also excelled in defending the opposition's leading outside shooter and coming up with timely fast break layups.

Panthers Waltz to First Half Crown

Fast Break, Team Play Key Factors

With all five of their victories exceeding ten points or more, Paschal easily dominated first half district play. The Panthers' scoring machine averaged an incredible 34 point victory margin, while ensuring themselves a spot in post-season play.

Except for the Southwest Rebels, Paschal's first half opponents proved to be no contest for the state ranked round-ballers. Southwest's zone defense and deliberate offense presented the only problem to the potent Panther team.

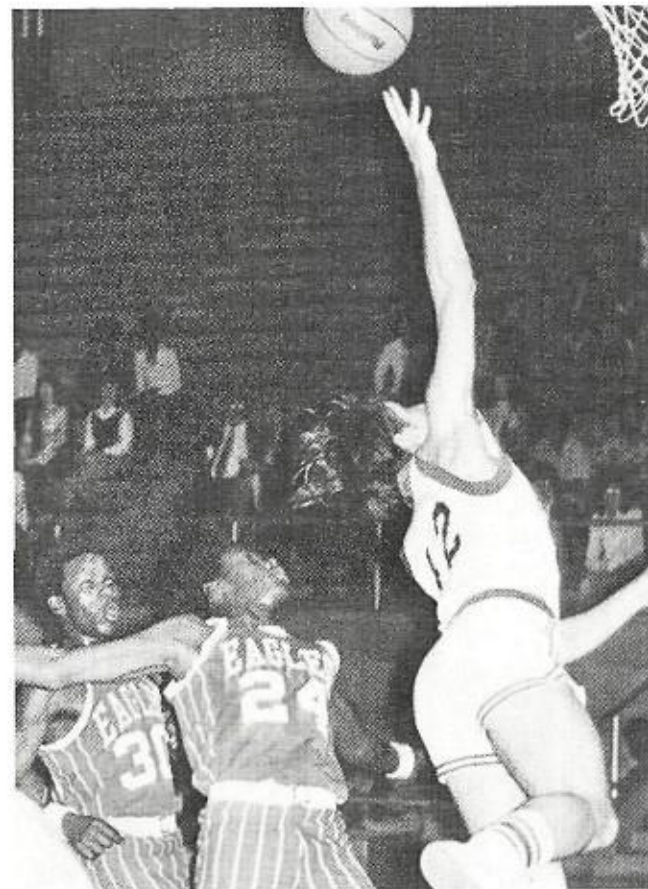

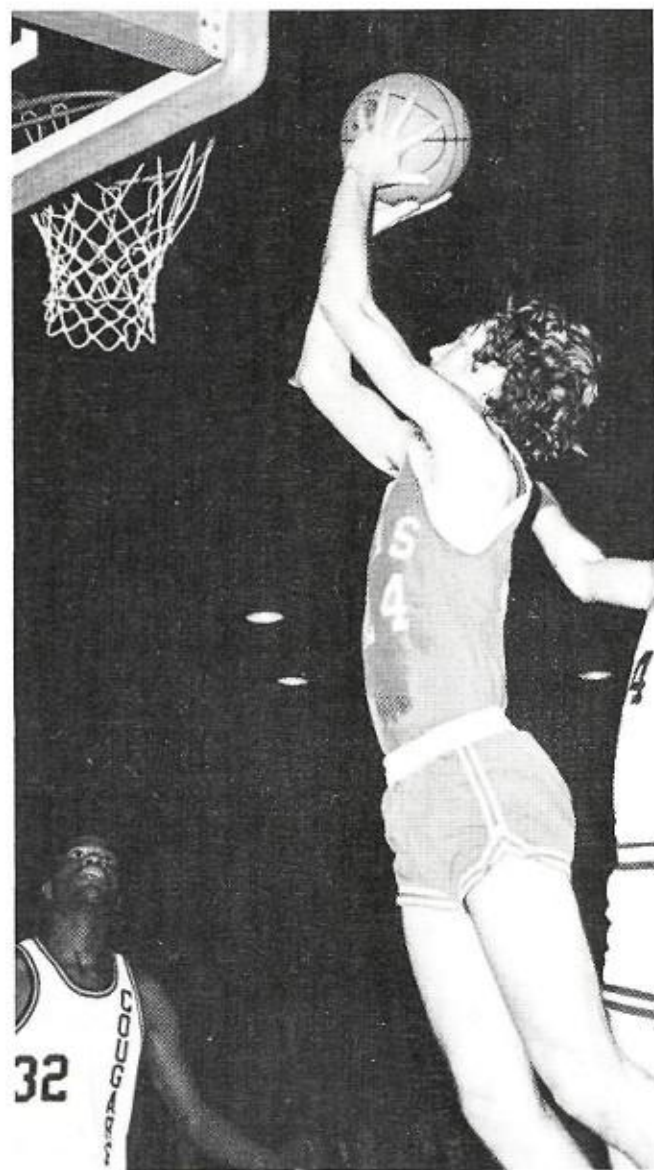

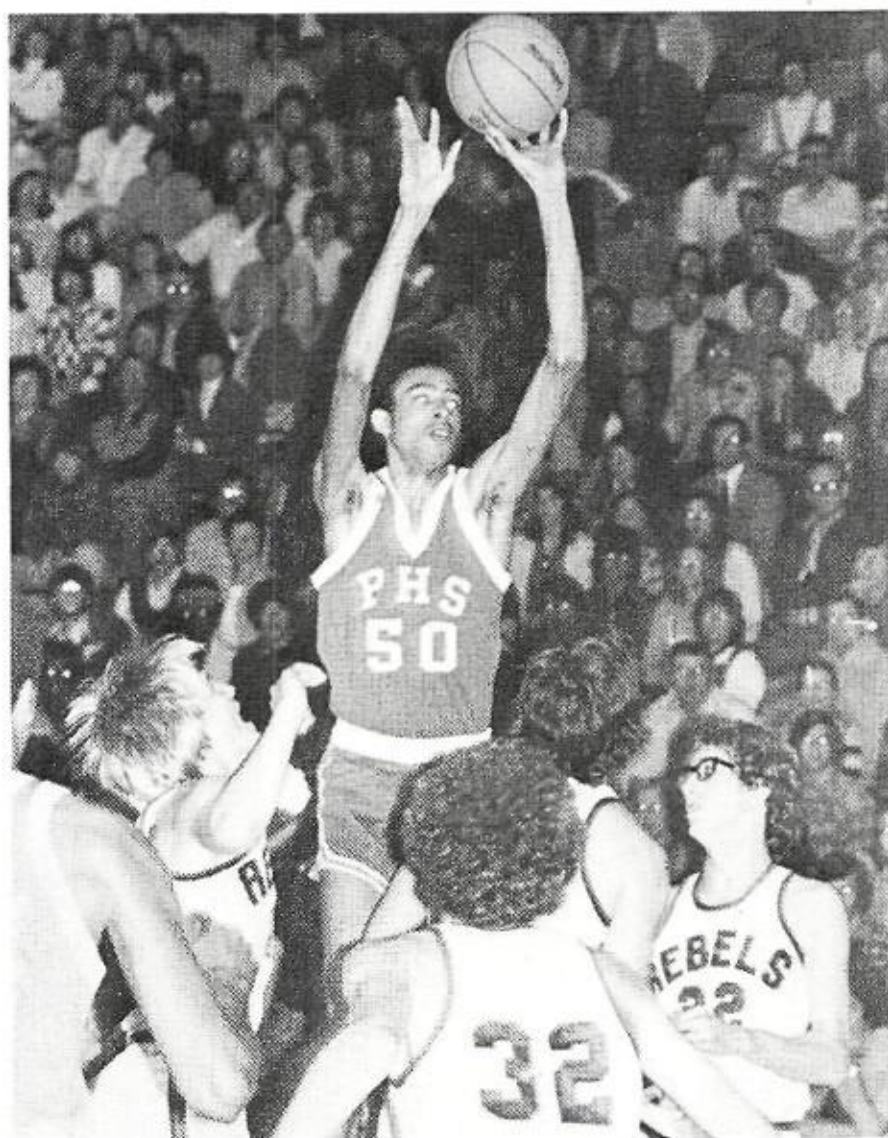

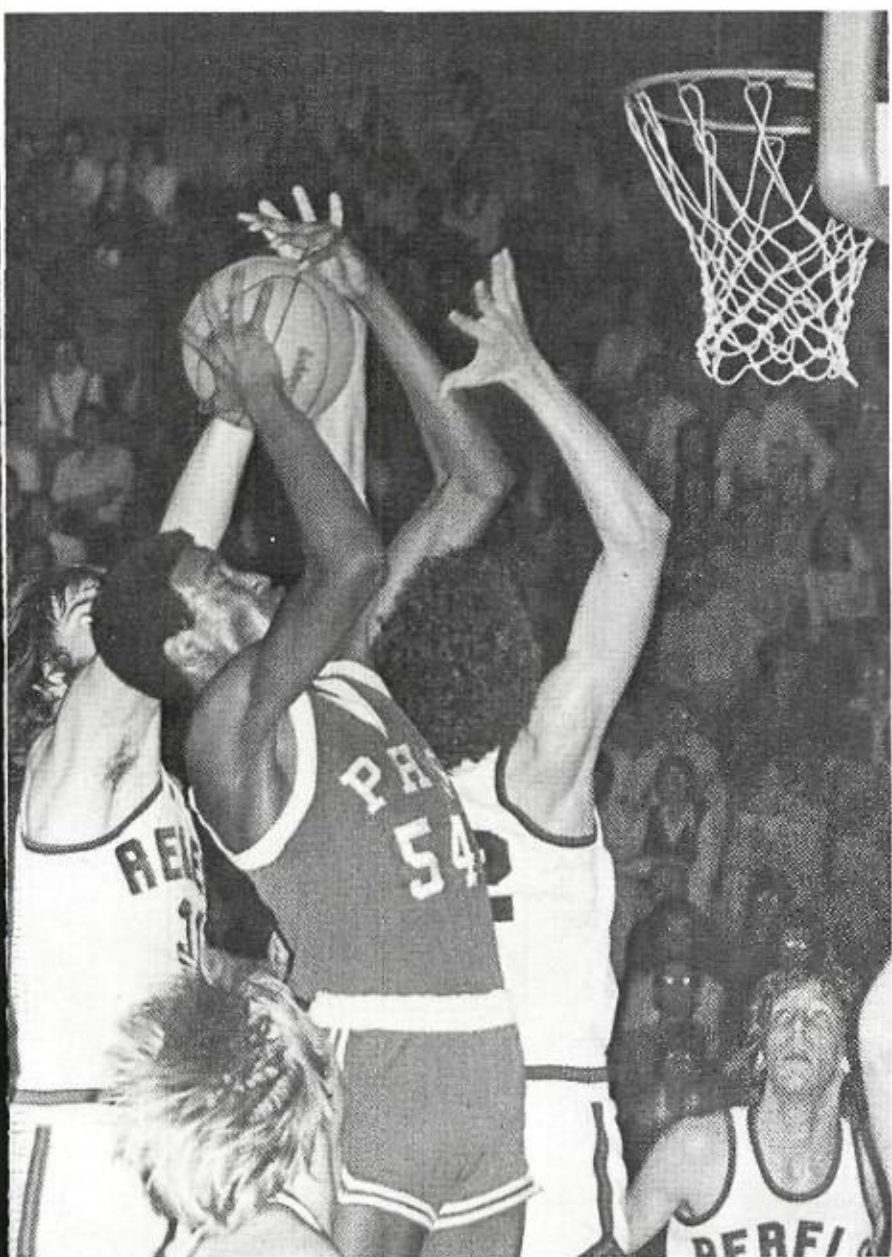

While floor general John Schlicher led the lethal Paschal fast break, Wendell Mays and Gerald Batty executed scoring maneuvers, and completed the Panthers' dominance with their rebounding.

Cagers Dominate Sweep District

Paschal secured its first District 4A-10 championship since 1969 by making a clean sweep of all five of their second half opponents. Leading the city in fewest points allowed per game, the Panthers also finished second in overall scoring, despite fewer chances for huge scores. Most teams envious of Paschal's state ranked club, tried a slower version of play the second time out, yet were decisively beaten either way.

Averages for all ten district encounters were: Bruce Baird (13.4 avg.), Gerald Batty (7.8 avg.), Clay Bibb (4.5 avg.), Wendell Mays (17.1 avg.), John Schlicher (17.6 avg.), Allen Barnard (2.4 avg.), Brian DeCoverly (4.7 avg.), Bruce Hopkins (1.0 avg.), Michael Roberts (3.1 avg.), Larry Smith (1.0 avg.), and Park Van Nest (2.7 avg.).

Roundballers Nab City and Regional Crowns, Pocket Second Place at State

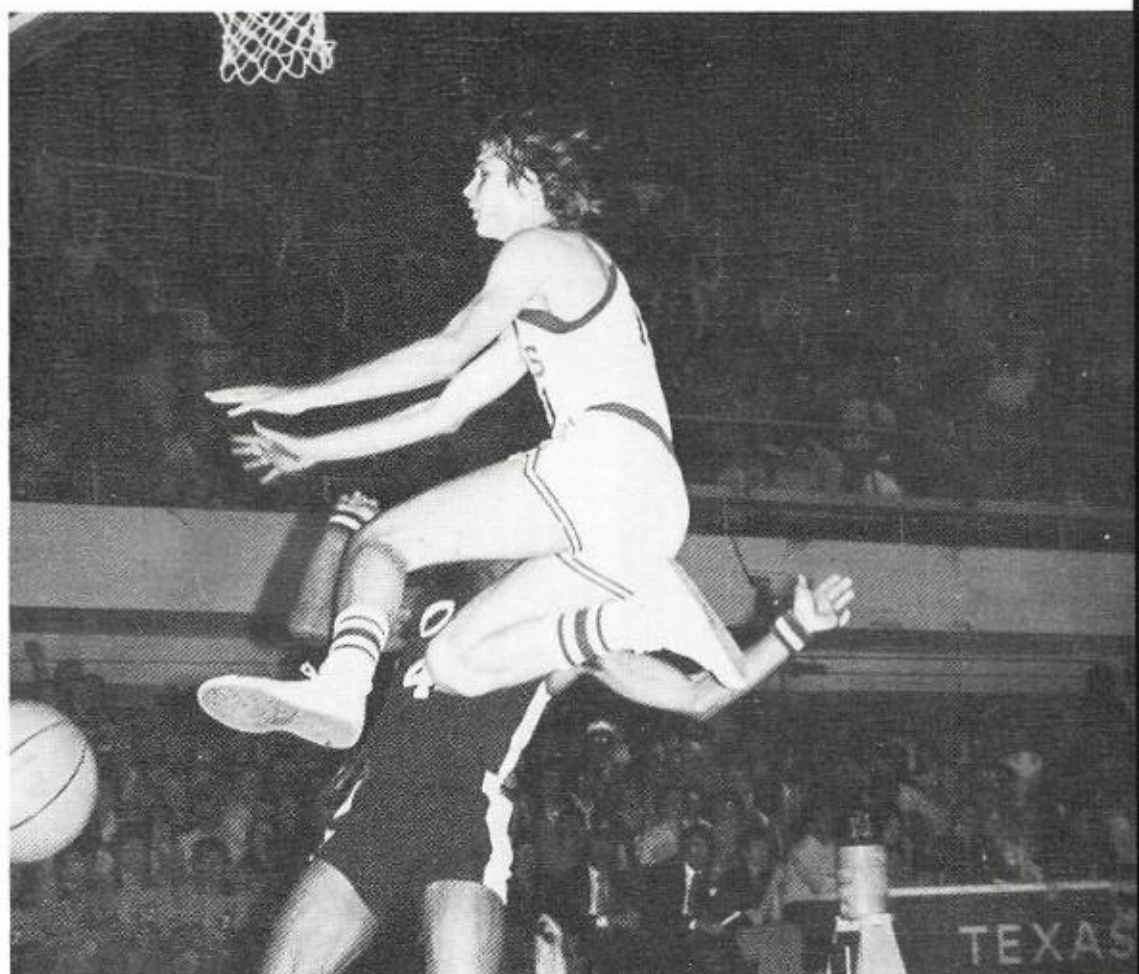

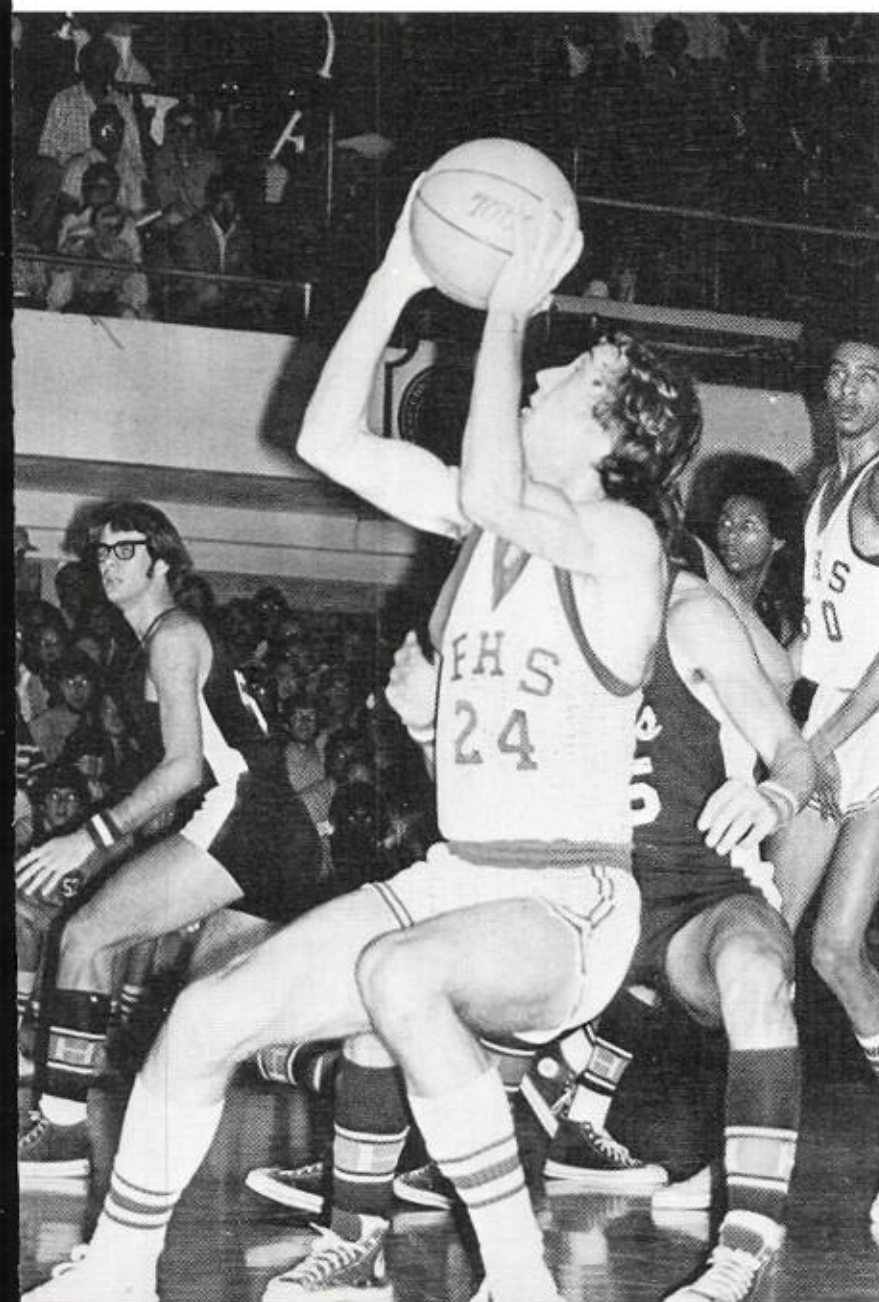

With the rare combination of desire, dedication, and talent, Paschal impressed all state basketball fans with a convincing second place finish in the Texas 4A-state tournament. Losing to Houston Kashmere in the finals (58-60), the Panthers ended their season with a final record of 32-3.

After splitting two warmup games with Houston teams, Wheatley (104-86) and Kashmere (68-100), the cagers won the city title with a hard fought victory over 4A-9 champ Wyatt (64-57).

Paschal's best showing was perhaps in College Station where they ousted pre-tourney favorite Dallas South Oak Cliff (83-70), and then went on to grab the number one spot in Regional by beating Tyler John Tyler (69-59).

In the semi-final round of state, the Panthers clubbed San Antonio Highlands (82-65). Despite their final game loss to Kashmere, Paschal left a definite impression that they play to win. The Panthers also exhibited true sportsmanship.

Junior Varsity Post 22-8 Record, Claim Tie for District Crown

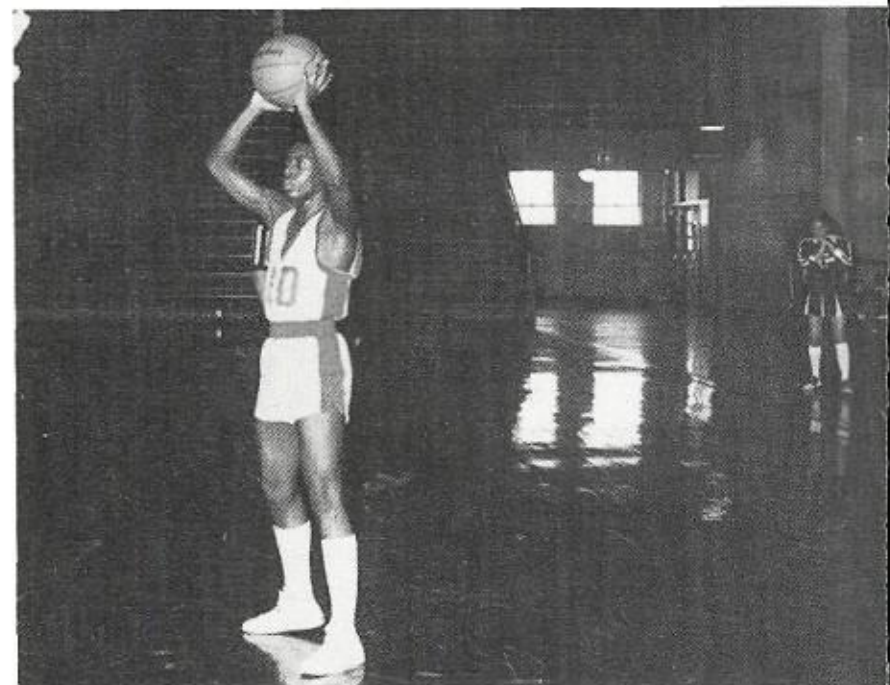

Under the direction of Coach George Taplin, the Junior Varsity posted an impressive 22-8 season record. Their season was highlighted by preseason tournament success and a tie for the district crown.

Led by Blake Kornegay (14.7 avg.) and Scott Lawrence (6.6 avg.), the JV coasted through the first half of district undefeated. The second half proved to be somewhat disappointing as they could only manage a 3-2 ledger.

Taplin's other starters included Kevin Warner (15.4 avg.), Manuel Moreno (3.9 avg.), Billy Smith (4.4 avg.), and junior Allen Barnard (10.5 avg.).

Scoring averages for the reserves were: Dan Davenport (4.0 avg.), Lon Alexander (2.8 avg.), Kurt Reinecke (5.2 avg.), Scott Smith (2.0 avg.), Greg East (1.1 avg.), David Burriss (0.5 avg.), and junior Mike Hurst (0.9 avg.).

Freshmen Capture District Title, Team Play Shines

Balance was the key as this year's Freshman team soared to a District 4A-10 title without a single player in double figures. The Frosh won first place in a PHS preseason tourney. The Freshmen relied on inside work by Mark Maness (9.3), Mark "Sugar Bear" Smith (6.7), and Mark Cooper (6.8). Rex Freeman (5.7) and David "Buck" Owens (8.1) showed fine shooting at guard, which matched the hustle of Kyle Bibb (7.8), Sam Noel (5.7), Jody Norman (4.5), and Pete Schmidt (3.3). Wilson Martin (3.0), Frank Sullivan (4.7), Kerry Pedigo (2.6), Mark McLeod (1.5), Mark Milraney (1.0), and Brad Baylor (0.7) did fine work in relief duty.

Both halves of district were won outright by the Panthers. Bidistrict was unreachable however, as the young Panthers lost 42-55 to a much larger Dunbar squad. The team's showing indicates a bright PHS roundball future for years to come.

Grueling Practices Bring Tennis Honors

A state tournament in San Antonio during December proved profitable for the PHS tennis team. They netted fifth place with a consolation victory over Highland Park.

Long hours of practice prepared players for district and predistrict play. Angela Bartzen, Judy May, Lynn Proctor, Jan Solomon, Julia Hull, and Kay Humes participated in tournaments in Wichita Falls, Irving, and Hurst at L. D. Bell. Boys making the trip were Tut Bartzen, Max Menefee, David Menefee, David Cody, Kenneth Page, Doug Blair, and Bruce Cunningham. Mrs. Norma Headrick and Mr. Arthur Lotspeich supervised their activities. This team has young members with the potential of providing Paschal with continued talent in future years.

Cheerleaders Heighten Spirit

With school spirit at an all-time high, the 1974-75 varsity cheerleaders Linda Cornelius, Judy May, Gwen Pruitt, Jan Tucker, David Chatman, Danny Deaver, Tommy Hulme, and David Peterson cheered successful PHS teams to victory. This enthusiastic group won 4 ribbons at SMU cheerleading camp last summer and returned with the coveted spirit stick.

B-team cheerleaders Becky Ball, Lane Bloxom, Nancy Sears, and Michelle Smith boosted the spirit of the junior varsity and freshmen. Their hard work and dedication were outstanding throughout the year.

Panthers Break Three Records For a Solid Fourth Place

Paschal swimmers battled through a hard year to wind up with a fourth place title in the All City High School Swimming Meet. The boys' team, led by strong relays, placed fourth over Eastern Hills. Paschal's girls' team tied for second place with Southwest. Martha Jones broke city records both in the 200 yard freestyle by 1.3 seconds and in the 500 yard freestyle by 6 seconds. Sharon Noonan also broke a city record in the 100 yard breast stroke by 4 seconds. Paschal's Diving Team also won two second places, plus a fifth and sixth.

Girl Cagers Capture Consolation

Girls' basketball is more popular than ever. This year the girls have performed better than any other Paschal team. At the pre-tournament scrimmage Paschal defeated Carter 50-33. In the City Tournament the Panthers won consolation. The team lost to Wyatt 23-36 but won against Poly 45-12. Heights fell to the Paschal girls 28-14 in the finals. High tournament scorers were Terry Hall and Vanesa Rose.

As a result of strenuous daily practice, Paschal's volleyball team won the first round in the city tournament. The girls won two games over Southwest and two over Poly. They also defeated both Heights and Carter, one game over each. The semi-finals and finals were less satisfactory, however, as the Panthers lost all their games, taking a hard-earned fourth place.

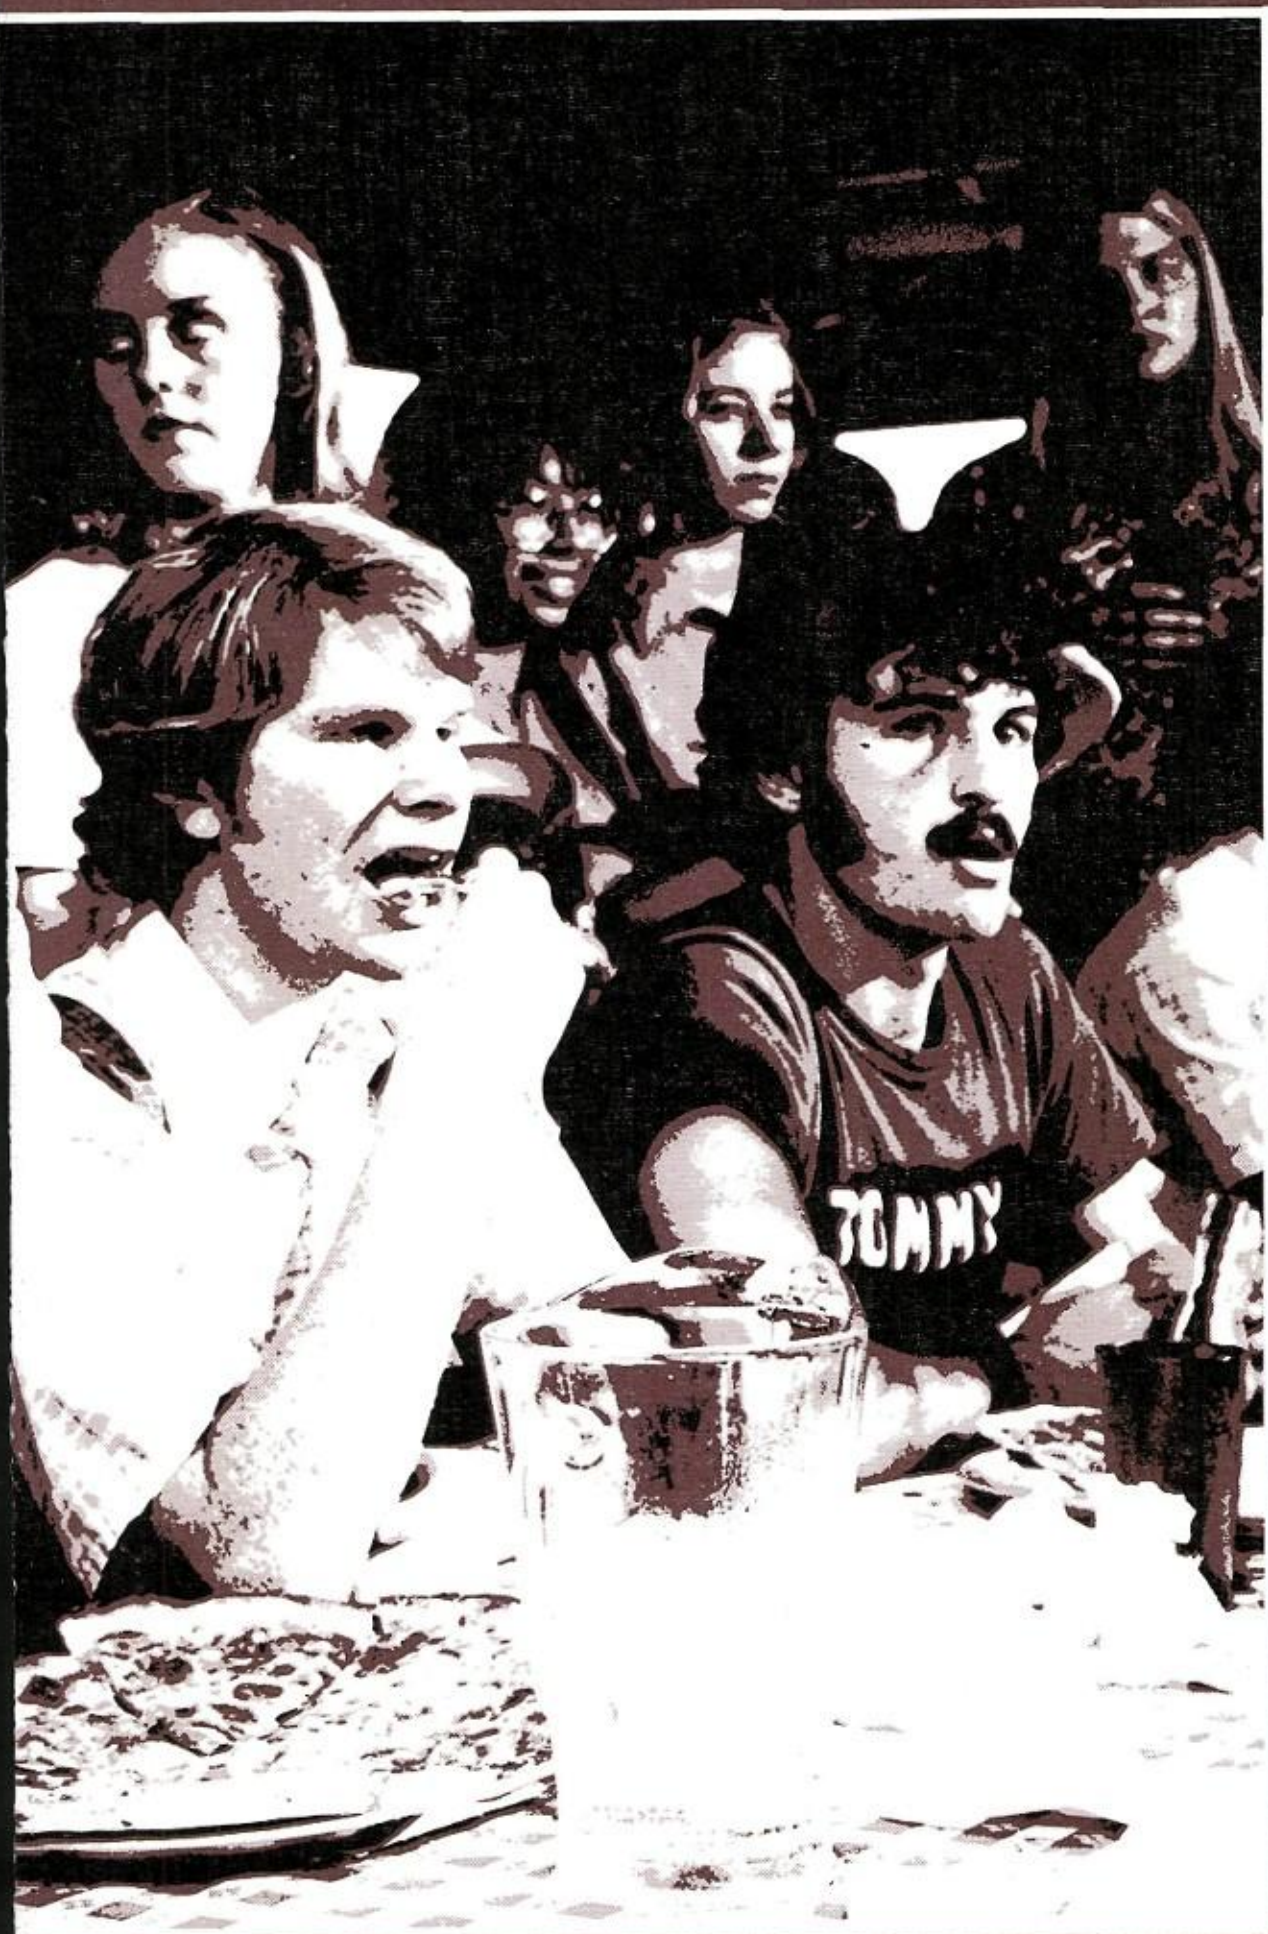

Paschal's many clubs and organizations provide the opportunity for students to pursue their diverse interests. Fulfillment can be found in both academic and extra-curricular fields, for Paschal's organizations are attuned to individuals.

ORGANIZATIONS

LC Organizes Student Government

Paschal's Leadership Committee is the executive group heading the Student Council and is composed of seven representatives from each of the three upper classes and three from the Freshman Class. The United High School Council Representative is also a member of the LC, making the total number twenty-five. The Leadership Committee is a unique system of student representation, the only one of its kind in the city. The LC organizes student government and activities and acts as a link between students and faculty. It is subdivided into committees to work more efficiently and to make sure that Paschal students are well represented in all factions of school activities.

Student Council Works for Paschal

Decision-making is not the only duty of the Student Council at Paschal. Members of the SC perform many of the small tasks required to keep the school running smoothly. Some of these tasks include raising and lowering the flag, polishing the trophies, and finding and screening morning thoughts. The 115 member council is composed of a representative elected from each homeroom. The most important function of the individual representative is to keep the homeroom well informed on school activities and student government.

Spirited Seniors Spread Enthusiasm

The seniors at PHS support the Panthers in their own special way through the senior spirit club, Panthers Spirit of Paschal. The 49 members of PSOP, 25 girls and 24 boys, were elected by the class of '75 in the spring of their junior year. During football, basketball, and baseball seasons, members of PSOP can be seen at all the games in uniform, supporting the team. At pep rallies, PSOP boosts spirit by performing comical skits and putting up spirit posters. The group sponsored the Howdy Dance and helped LC construct the Great Banana Split. During Homecoming, PSOP helped the cheerleaders and the Ex-Student Association with many of the activities. Members of the group often serve as hosts to visitors. "The guys with the white hats" are seen often at PHS and show the student body that the seniors are behind the school and its many teams.

Pep Squad Supports Mighty Panthers

P.A.W.S., or Purple and White Spirit, is the pep squad at P.H.S. The girls from all four grades attend the games in their uniforms, showing enthusiasm and spirit to help carry the Panthers to victory. Their spirit posters brighten the field house walls and help let the team know that P.A.W.S. are behind them all the way. Their many activities include poster painting, selling Paschal pennants, securing their new uniforms for the basketball season, sponsoring a dance, and supporting the Panthers by attending athletic activities.

Orchestra Brings Harmony to Paschal

Paschal's orchestra uses the full range of instruments. During rehearsals the freshmen are sometimes given special instruction by outside teachers to aid with their individual needs. The orchestra gives both a Christmas program and Spring concert in addition to participating at the University Interscholastic League competition held each year at Trinity High School. Each year the orchestra visits the middle schools to encourage incoming students to continue their music education. Orchestra members also take an annual tour to perform for other groups and as a reward for a year of hard work.

Choruses Add to Music Program

Paschal's chorus program and its director, Pat Atkinson, keep vocal students busy. The Girls Chorus and Freshman Chorus work to develop technique and gain experience. The Mixed Chorus concentrates on its style and entering All-City and University Interscholastic League Competition. All choruses participate in Christmas and Spring programs. The Mixed Chorus presents assemblies and makes a yearly trip to area middle schools to interest incoming students in music. In the spring the Mixed Chorus also makes a tour to perform for outside groups. The choruses form an active part of the music department.

Marching Band Brightens Halftime

Debbie Sr 77
Reetman

Paschal's Marching Band truly brightens halftime at football games. The 145 member band starts practicing long before school starts and works hard during first period to remain in top shape. They received a division I rating, the highest rating possible, in the city wide marching band competition. The band has grown so large this year that some members are forced to march in spirit shirts for lack of uniforms; however, the Panther Marching Band remains number one.

Bands Meet Needs Of Music Students

Paschal's Concert Wind Ensemble meets at period one. The Ensemble is an accelerated band and works with advanced wind literature. The members of this band are more accomplished musicians and are required to audition to enter the class. The Concert Wind Ensemble competes in All City Contest and University Interscholastic League competition.

The Concert Band at Paschal is open to all music students and is a basic band that enables students to develop technique and fundamental musical ability. The 100 member band meets at period two and works with all kinds of wind literature to gain a working knowledge of all types of music.

Opposite Page. # Stage Band Brings Jazz to Paschal

Paschal's Stage Band works mostly with jazz charts and provides students with training in the special technique required for playing jazz music. The twenty-one member Stage Band attended the Mid-western University Stage Band Festival and won Outstanding Band for the second year in a row. At the same contest, eight members were chosen to be in the All-Star Band and six of those eight were selected as top instrumentalist on their particular instruments. Hard work has paid off for the members of the Stage Band and the results are evident in the full-length record that they made in March.

Rodeo Club Keeps Up Western Tradition

Paschal's Rodeo Club is in action every weekend attending rodeos from the start of school through Christmas and from February through school's end. Members of the club compete in a variety of events including barrel racing, steer riding, goat tying, and break-away roping for the girls, and bareback, bull riding, calf roping, chute dogging, ribbon roping, and saddle bronc riding for the boys. The group sponsors its own rodeo every year and is a member of the North Texas High School Rodeo Association.

OEA Trains Students For Leadership

Leadership training was the key word in the Office Education Association. Sponsors Miss Mary Smith and Mrs. Jane King encouraged members to run the entire club themselves. Membership was open only to students enrolled in the Vocational Office Education classes. This year, OEA participated in various district, area, state, and national competitions in office skills. Areas of competition included typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, speaking, parliamentary procedure, and talent. The club paid for all activities, so members sold Christmas gifts, Amway products, candy, combs, and had a rummage sale to raise funds.

Upper Center: IS IT A BIRD? IS IT A PLANE? NO, IT'S A . . . ? While campaigning for Alva Brown, Sandy Holt and Kathy Kinard pass out candy to Anthony Smith. Center Left: ROUND AND ROUND SHE GOES, AND WHERE SHE STOPS SHE'LL SEND A BILL. Linda Young does some filing at the Musician's Union where she works. Middle Center: IT WAS THE THIRD ONE FROM THE RIGHT, OFFICER. OEA Co-op officers are Kathy Peden, Renee Clay, Janet Davis, Sherida Taylor, Miss Smith, Carol Wheat, and Rinada Knowles. Center Right: PATTY CAKE, PATTY CAKE. OEA Lab officers are Melinda Harris, Lois Campbell, Jeannie Northcutt, Barri Widman, Alva Brown, Patti Smith, and Mrs. King, sponsor. Lower Left: WOULD YOU BELIEVE TEN WORDS A MINUTE? ## DE Exposes Students To Business World

Distributive Education Clubs of America is the national club sponsored by the Distributive Education class and Mr. Clayton Bodiford. It trains students to survive in the business world. The program, open to juniors and seniors who must work a minimum of fifteen hours per week, carries a value of three credits per year. Students work in areas such as business relations, inventory shrinkage, sales, advertising, display, public speaking, job application, sales promotion, retail credit, and store organization. An area conference held in Temple enabled members to compete in the different business areas mentioned above. Competition was open to all DE students. For a fund raising activity, members sold Tootsie-Roll candy banks.

Future Homemakers Aid Community

Future Homemakers of America (FHA), sponsored by Mrs. Sara Pursley and Mrs. Rose Smith, is designed for students interested in consumer education, home-making, and family life. In this organization members learn leadership and responsibility by planning and participating in activities related to the roles of the homemaker and wage-earner. Through FHA, individuals are able to apply their classroom studies to community affairs in order to improve personal, family, and community living.

Upper: HAVE YOU TRIED MOUTH-TO-MOUTH RESUSCITATION? Jimmy White, Mark Widman, and Scott Henderson demonstrate their expert skills in bathing infants. Lower: Hollye Hayes, Roxanne Karnes, Cathy Stanphill, Denise Drake, Charles Hodges, Mike Johnston, Jo Ann Kirkland, Vicki Simonds, and Tawana Rowan, Mrs. Smith's officers, discover that folding clothes can be fun.

Students Prepare For Future Jobs

Home Economics Related Occupations (HERO) examines further the specific areas offered in the fields of FHA. Among these are Pre-employment Laboratory Education, instructed by Mrs. Cheryl Lovitt and Mrs. Jo Ann Popham. This program provides good experience for both future parents and teachers since students give aid to elementary schools by assisting teachers with their classes.

Coordinated Vocational Academic Education (CVAE) enables students to develop salable skills. Under the guidance of Miss Mary Humber students learn menu planning, food preparation, and catering in the CVAE Homemaking program. CVAE Office provides for pupils interested in business. In this course students learn duplicating skills and general office procedures with the help of Mrs. Nancy Hoyl.

Home Economics Cooperative Education (HECE), taught by Mrs. Mary Frances Jordan, provides classroom instruction plus on-the-job training in cooperation with area businesses. Students earn wages, gain knowledge, develop skills, and acquire experience through this program, which prepares them for initial employment in a home economics related field.

High School Students Learn From Children

Understanding child psychology is one of the main reasons students participate in the Child Development program taught by Mrs. Cheryl Lovitt and Mrs. Jo Ann Popham. Each day students go to neighboring elementary schools where they act as child care assistants, studying the development of children, how they act at certain ages, and how to handle their disciplinary problems. Assistants manage reading groups, art, music, math, and various other activities in pre-school through second grade situations, as well as classes for the bilingual, deaf, and blind.

Students Consider Careers in Education

By allowing members to tackle tutoring jobs, Future Teachers of America (FTA), sponsored by Miss Melba Maddux, enables the student considering a career in education to gain some practical experience. This activity provides members with a realistic understanding of the importance of teaching and the role of education in today's community.

The FTA field trip to Austin early in December highlighted the year. Members visited the Austin State School for the Deaf and Blind and the University of Texas. During their two day stay, students also toured Trinity University and the LBJ Library.

Upper: WANNA SEE ME PUT THIS WHOLE HOTDOG IN MY MOUTH? Marsha Smith, Don Jett, and Susan Schmidt enjoy foot-long hotdogs. Middle: Officers Paul Higgins, Ginger Ellis, Marian Richardson, Mary Alice Collins, Susan Schmidt, and Linda Sanders organize football sales for homecoming. Lower: Marian Richardson and Brian Reid make acknowledgment cards to give to the teachers on Halloween to express appreciation for their time and effort.

TAHOS Explores Career Opportunities

Students interested in physical therapy, nursing, surgery, and a wide range of medical fields have an opportunity to explore that interest through the Texas Association of Health Occupations Students (TAHOS). Through this program, sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Pittman, students become better acquainted with the health care areas, enabling them to make intelligent career choices. TAHOS is open to juniors and seniors who show a sincere interest in the health care field, maintain good attendance, and hold a "C" grade average. Students participating in Health Occupations receive classroom instruction and on-the-job training in area hospitals.

Students Investigate Medical Careers

Besides developing leadership qualities, members of the Future Medical Careers (FMC) Club learn how to function responsibly as a group. With the assistance of Mrs. Marguerite Funderburgh, students are kept informed about new advances in medicine as well as important facts on medical careers and opportunities.

By participating in various activities, this small group, composed of young people interested in pursuing a medically oriented career, gains first-hand knowledge about medicine today and its application. A tour of the Hypnotic Clinic began the club's activities in the fall. Following the initial program, members took field trips to the Carter Blood Bank and the Alcon Labs as well as the Crime Lab and City Water Department of Fort Worth.

AFS Encourages Pizza Eating

The American Field Service, sponsored by Miss Jhani Wright and Miss Sherry Atkins, is an organization which raises money to help foreign exchange students study in the United States. This year, AFS welcomed Achara Parnichapant from Thailand. Some fund-raising activities this year included a pizza-eating contest between Paschal and Southwest, an egg sale, and a car bash. Another new aspect of AFS was its theme. Each month a different country inspired a special activity such as an English tea, a German Christmas, or a Russian Easter celebration.

Gavlois Farfelus Has New Flavor

Improving people's understanding of France through a program of varied activities is the purpose of the French Club, sometimes known as Far-Out Frenchies. Sponsored by Miss Sherry Atkins, members have participated in new activities such as selling French perfume, performing a detective thriller play in December, and camping out on the Brazos, which have generated a new interest in French. Other activities included co-sponsoring a roller-skating party with the Russian Club, attending the French Symposium in San Antonio, and preparing a French meal.

Pan Am Profits From Fund-Raising

Paschal's Spanish Club encourages members to understand all peoples of the Americas through language, history, and culture. Sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Pan Am has participated in many projects. Fund-raising activities have been selling miniature wood-carvings made by Mr. Johnson, a candy sale, and the sale of annual covers. Other activities included Trick-or-Treating for UNICEF on Halloween, a banquet at La Hacienda, and a trip to San Antonio for a state-wide convention.

Upper: Amy Fiesler and Nancy Beasley go Trick-or-Treating for UNICEF dressed as Spanish caballeros. Center: TRY TO SAY "EL CHOOCHOO," DANNY. Mrs. Johnson points out features of the miniature wood-carvings to officers Laura Pumphrey, Danny Deaver, Jeff Rogers, Karon Bruner, Doris Jimenez, Meredith Carb, Cynthia Grimaldo, and Lydia Hester. Lower: HAS ANYBODY SEEN MY TEDDY BEAR? Members of Pan Am prepare to leave for the convention in San Antonio.

ROME Emphasizes Classic Culture

Romans of the Modern Era, sponsored by Mrs. Judy Toal, observes and takes part in Roman culture. Ceremonies and costumes are an essential part of the club's activities. Members dressed their Santa Claus entry in the traditional toga costume, complete with horse and chariot. ROME also commemorated the death of Julius Caesar with a banquet on the Ides of March. Hand-made items such as aluminum-can chairs, macrame belts, candles, and beaded jewelry sold at the flea market were made by members.

Deutscher Verein Has New Ideas

Paschal's German Club has introduced several new activities to the club's agenda this year. They are trying to make German more interesting through introducing new cultural activities. Sponsored by Mrs. Vicki Taylor, the German Club not only participated in the Oktoberfest but also held a Christmas banquet at the Heidelberger Hof. New activities included attending the Novemberfest in Arlington, selling Advent calendars, and cooking a German meal.

Top: COME ON, LET ME HAVE IT! Members Lisa Smith and Jeff Howard decorate the trophy case with German Club trophies won at the Novemberfest. Lower: Officers Bill Kahlke, Margie Kluck, and Steve Tompkins open windows in the Advent calendars sold by the German Club. Center: SHOULD I OR SHOULDN'T I? THAT IS THE QUESTION. Members prepare first annual German banquet.

Russian Atmosphere Pervades Paschal

Interest in the Russian language is still a growing thing. Through the sponsorship of Miss Sherry Atkins, the Russian Club generates interest by providing cultural activities for Russian language students as well as those students not enrolled in Russian. Members travelled to Denton early in the fall to watch the Georgian dancers from Russia, perform in full costume, authentic Russian dances. The club also sponsored a Franco-Russian roller skating party. Other activities included former Russian students speaking and showing slides of Russia, and decorating Russian Easter eggs. Members sold candy and Russian T-shirts for fund raising projects.

Upper: I DON'T KNOW. I THINK IT'S TOO SMALL FOR MY GIRL FRIEND AND TOO BIG FOR ME. Steve St. Clair and Tom Finn try to sell Glen Walline a Russian T-shirt. Center: Patty Russell, Miss Atkins, Kelly Moore, Cindy St. Clair, and Billy Dilworth decorate Easter eggs, Russian style. Bottom: THREE FRENCH HENS, ONE TURTLE DOVE, AND A PARTRIDGE SERVING RUSSIAN SPICED TEA. Officers Susan Black, Miss Atkins, Deena Sherman, Robin Gordon, and Paula St. Clair drink Russian spiced tea.

will probably be leaving us.
I pray that you will find true
happiness
in the things that really count, meaning peace,
joy & love.
There is only one person who can really give that & I hope you come to really know Him.

Israeli Culture Penetrates PHS

One of the major purposes of the Paschal Hebrew Club is to expose students to Israeli culture. Members learn about native songs and dances as well as the celebration of national holidays and the customs and foods which accompany them. Club members celebrated Sukkot, a harvest festival in October; and Tu-B' Shevat, the first day of spring in Israel, a holiday similar to Arbor Day, when trees are planted throughout the country. The club also sponsored a Fallafel party, complete with dinner and dancing, and a cultural assembly for Israel Independence Day.

Vagabonds Profit From Production

The Paschal Vagabond Players is a theater group which offers a chance for students to participate in several dramatic productions each year. This season, the Vagabonds produced Up the Down Staircase, both receiving good reviews from several critics and providing enjoyment for many Paschalites. Members of the Vagabonds learned techniques involving set building, sound, and theater lighting. Others worked on costume, properties, and publicity crews. Through the diligent guidance of their sponsor, Miss Cathy Stevens, the Vagabonds have provided Paschal with an excellent variety of dramatic entertainment.

Forensic Club Wins Tournaments

New at Paschal this year was the Forensic Club, a group of students who participated in speech tournaments throughout the state. Different categories included debate, extemporaneous speech, dramatic interpretation, and duet acting. Under the sponsorship of Miss Cathy Stevens, students travelled to Wichita Falls, Arlington, and Dallas to attend the various tournaments.

Upper: Officers David Willis, Patti Biggers, and Kathy Penley consult their notes in preparation for the Southwest tournament. Center: Kathy Penley, Brett Youngblood, Ben Johnson, and David Willis practice a debate for an upcoming tournament. Lower: YOU BETTER BE CAREFUL. MY BODY IS A LETHAL WEAPON! Randy Beardsley and Stori Smith rehearse duet acting for drama competition.

TOMA Works With School and Community

Turned On Mexican-Americans is an organization designed to help Mexican-American students with any problems at school and share the cultural background of the Mexican-American with the school. TOMA also took an active part in community activities which related to the Mexican-American culture. Members sponsored a self-defense course that taught the techniques of jujitsu. During the Christmas season the club participated in Operacion Jugetes, the gathering of toys for needy children. The club also donated a candy-filled pinata to the Lena Pope Home. Money raised from two raffles was used for a scholarship fund. Prizes included dinners at the International House of Pancakes, York Steak House, the Spaghetti Warehouse in Dallas, and tickets to the Led Zeppelin concert.

Upper: Officers John Perez, Beatrice Trevino, Don Pacheco, and Gerald Esparza work on an exhibition of the Mexican-American culture in one of the trophy cases. Center: JUST GIVE US OUR TUTUS AND WE'LL BE READY. Participating in the self-defense course were Vincent Perez, Bill Corbin, and Don Pacheco. Lower: THESE HAVE BEEN KEPT IN A MAYONNAISE JAR ON FUNK AND WAGNALLS PORCH SINCE NOON TODAY. Cynthia Scott and Jeanette Bynumn give Patty Govea, Billie McComb, and Mary Jane Alba their prizes won in one of the raffles.

Black Task Force Gets Involved

Community activities and special club activities provided many Black Task Force members with a chance to get more involved in things. Activities included a Halloween Dance, Christmas party, and a Red and White Ball, where Mr. and Miss Black Task Force and other Favorites were presented. The major goal of the club this year was to raise enough money for a portrait of Dr. Martin Luther King for the school. They achieved their goal through a spaghetti dinner, a turkey raffle, and a talent show.

Penta Club Inspires New Dimensions

Math is no longer just a required subject. Mrs. Annie Conley, the Penta Club sponsor, emphasizes this point through different club activities during the year. Math has been incorporated into varying fields. One interesting math-related project in which members participated was the construction of geometric string figures. The Penta Club also sponsored the demonstration of a moog synthesizer, a device which creates computerized music. At the annual Penta Club Banquet winners of the math awards test received first through third place awards for achievement in various math categories. Selling written as well as singing Valentines was the fund-raising project for the year.

Upper: Mr. David Conley demonstrates how to operate the moog synthesizer while Penta Club members Gina Tucker and Weldon Harper look on. Center: KNIT ONE, PURL TWO . . . Officers Angie O'Shields, Dawn Peden, Vivian Pollard, Betty Harris, and Amy Fiesler work on geometric string projects. Bottom: Carol Medina and Lydia Mendoza buy valentines from Betty Harris and Nancy Beasley.

Science Club Delves Into New Fields

Exploring new scientific advancements and science-related fields provided the Science Club with many new and varied activities this year. With Mr. Gerald Wall as a sponsor, the club was able to have a professional hypnotist speak and even hypnotize several members, resulting in a tour of the Hypnosis Institute. Other field trips included a visit of Miller Brewery, Alcon Laboratories, the Fort Worth Zoo, and Greer Island. In the area of space science, students viewed new releases from the NASA film department, dealing with the characteristics of the outer planets. The club also invited several guest speakers to explain possible animal behavior projects to advanced students.

Upper: Buggy Lyles, Angie O'Shields, John Robinson, and Ramona Simpson pet the deer at the zoo. Center: IT'LL NEVER FLY, ORVILLE. Roy Adams, Sherri Schreiber, Stephen Hammack, and Cindy Scurlock experiment with some chemicals at Alcon Laboratories. Lower: Officers John Robinson, Brad Wallace, Mr. Wall, and Ramona Simpson take care of experimental chickens.

Outstanding Students Earn Recognition

During the fall quarter, seniors in the upper fifteen percent of their graduating class are eligible for membership in the National Honor Society (NHS), sponsored by Mr. Robert Bennett. These students are chosen on the basis of freshmen, sophomore, and junior grades. Citizenship is also an important factor. Any pupil having an "N" or "U" average in citizenship for any given quarter is ineligible for this honor, as well as any student making an "F" in a subject.

In the spring, a formal initiation ceremony is held for those juniors and seniors in the Spanish Honor Society (SHS). These students must have completed the third year of Spanish, maintaining an "A" average throughout high school.

Pantherette Provides Challenge For Journalism Students

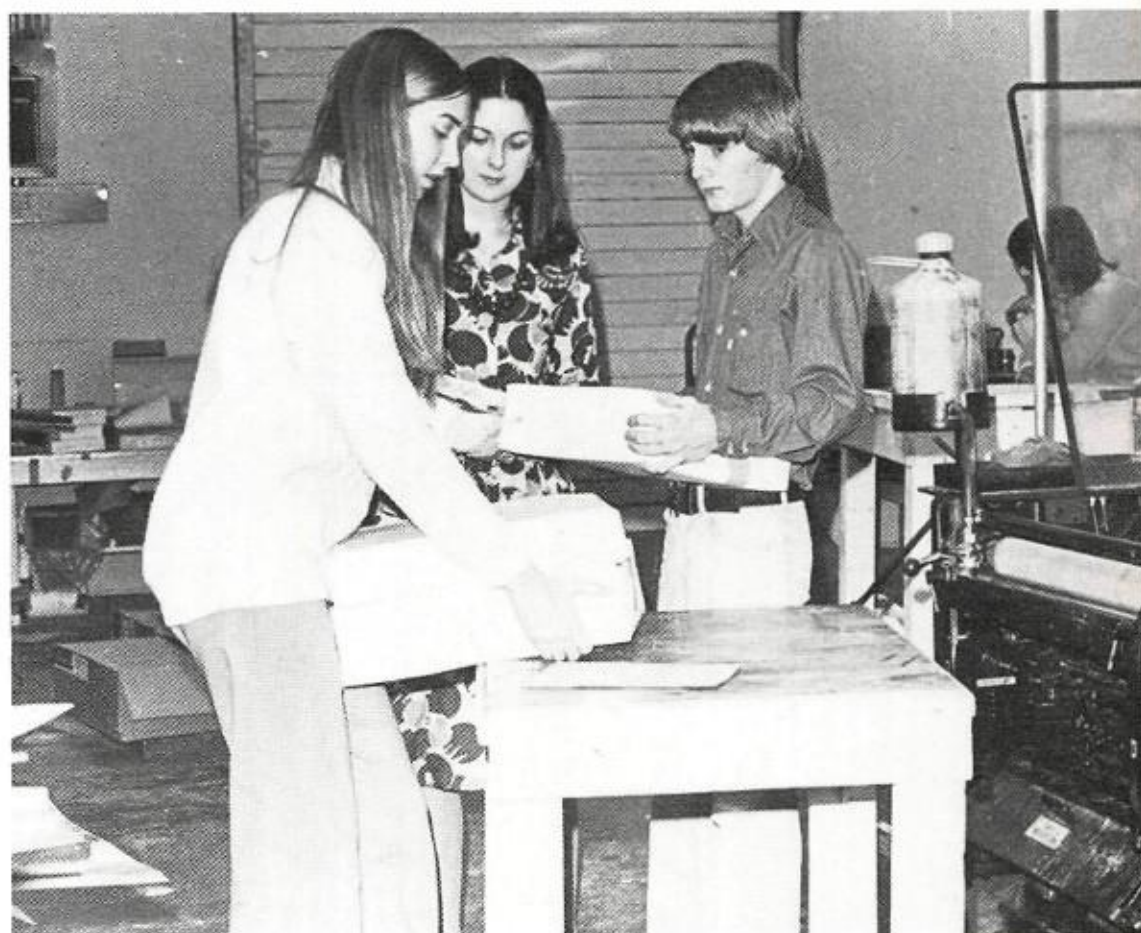

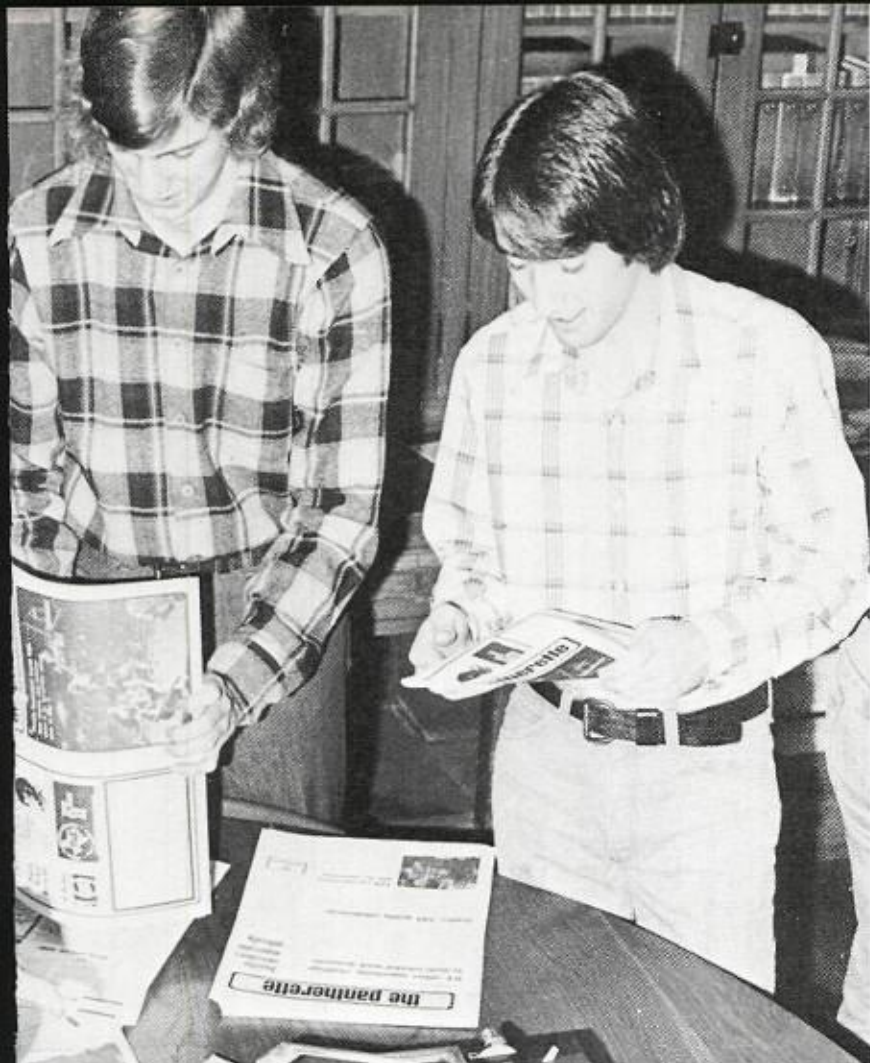

Publishing a good school newspaper requires a competent faculty adviser and a staff that can work together responsibly and well. Writing stories that are good enough to print, selling advertising that profits the merchant as well as the paper, and a united staff effort to meet deadlines are some of the challenges that make the Pantherette so stimulating and rewarding to both the student and the school. Accuracy, reliability, and good taste in writing are factors which make this paper an award winning publication.

Student Creativity Seen Through Vignette

Large Staff Works Harmoniously On '75 Panther

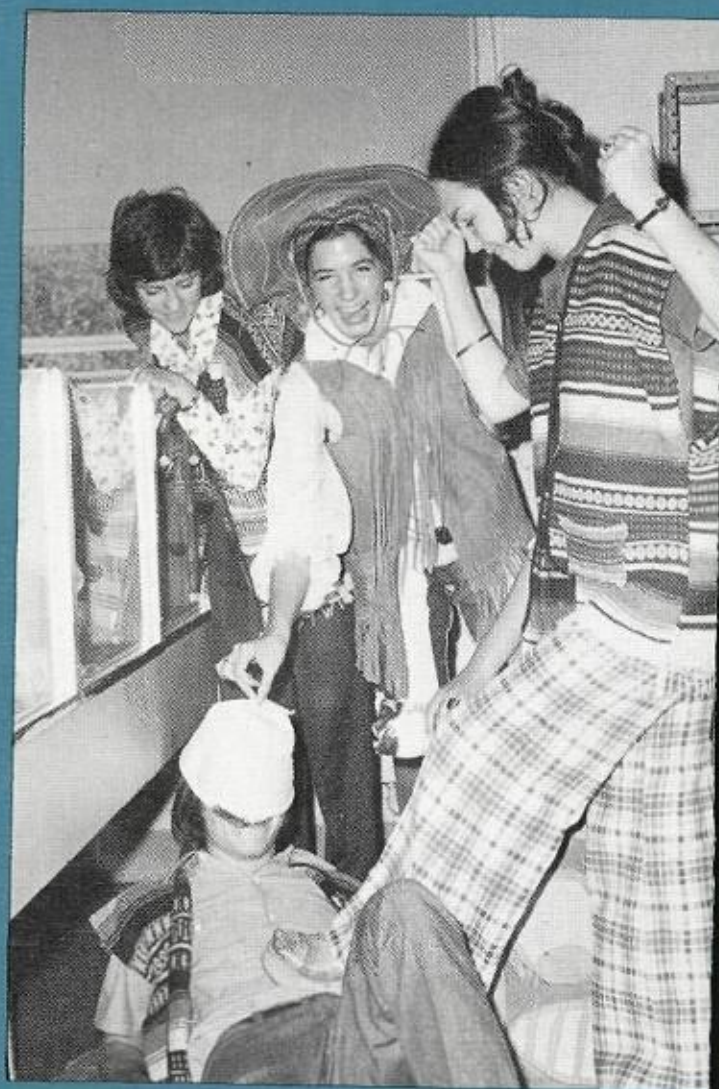

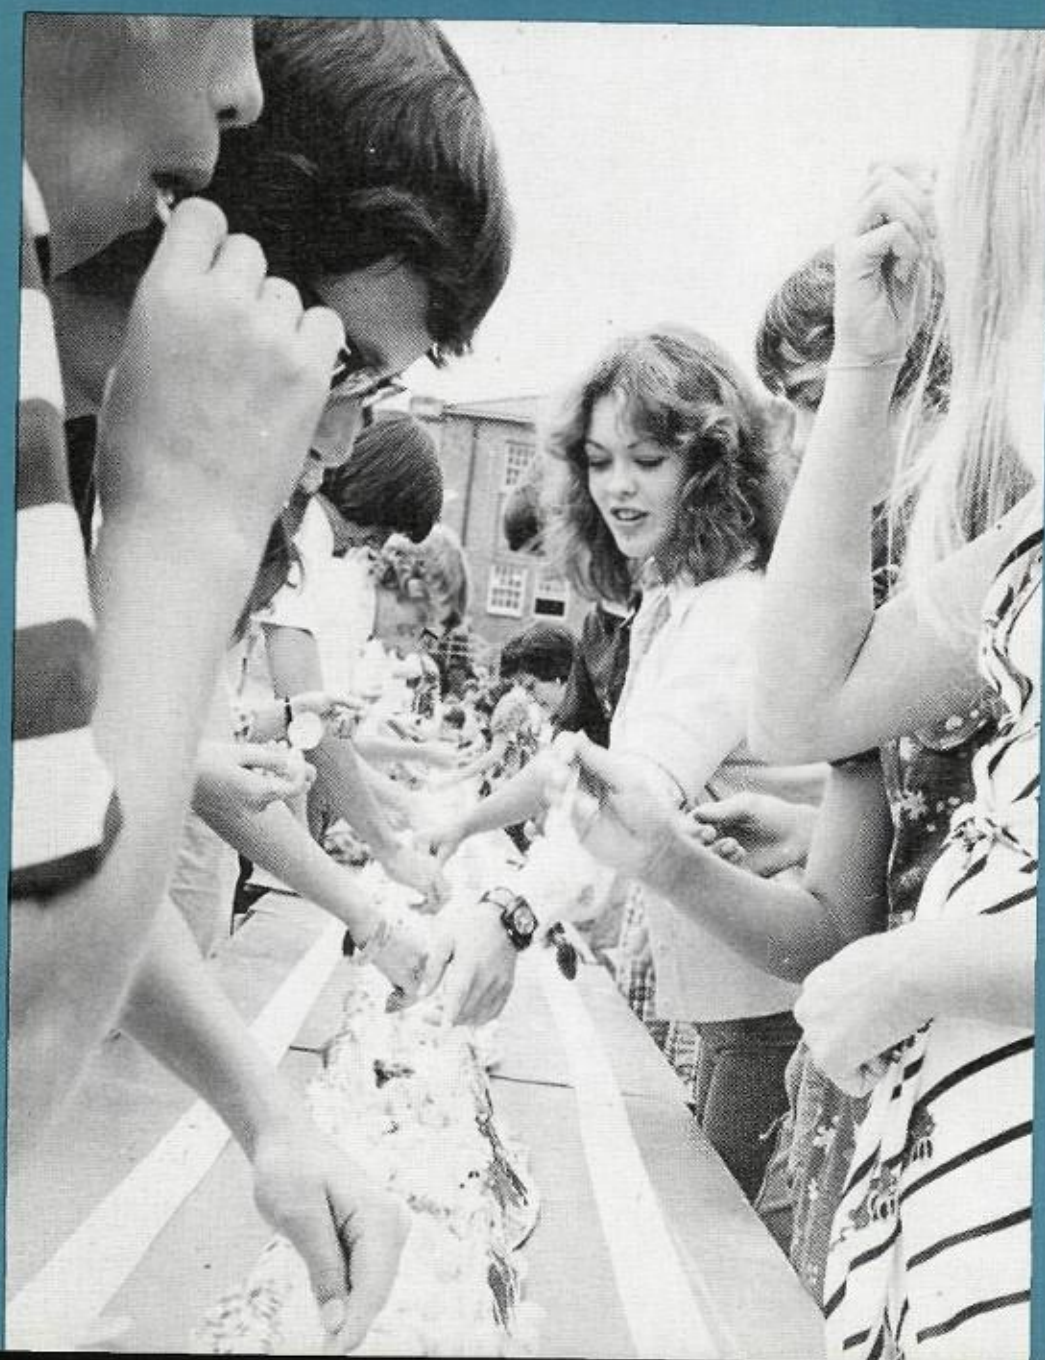

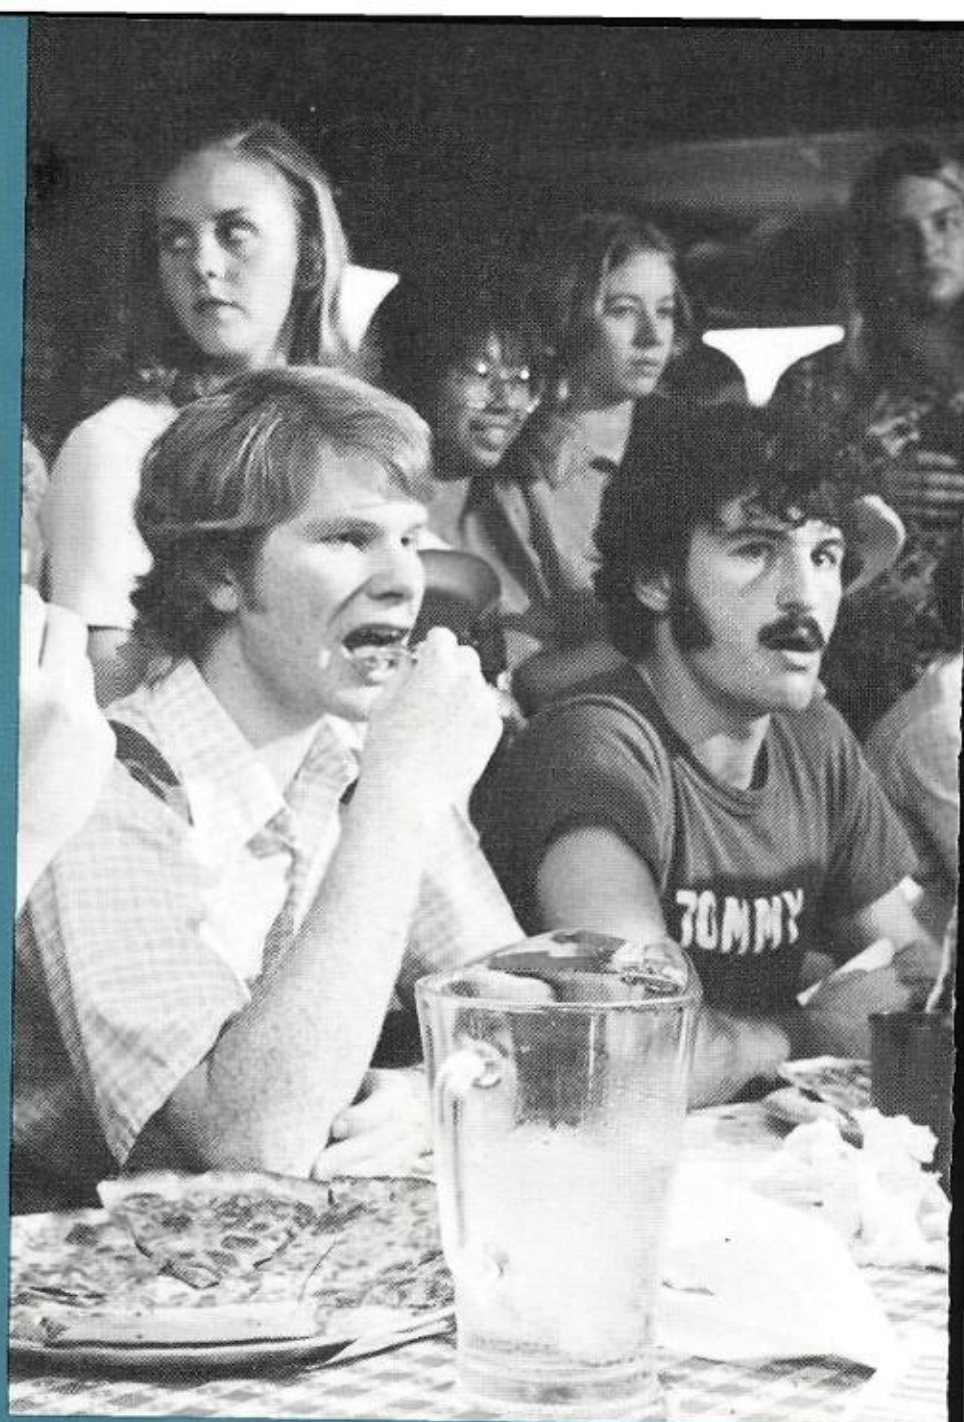

Working as a close and balanced group, the 1975 Panther Staff relentlessly functions to produce Paschal's award-winning yearbook. The annual is not merely a pictorial record of the year's activities, it is the combined efforts of the sponsor, Miss Zelma W. Rhodes, and a carefully chosen yearbook staff.

In order to move in step with the constant changes at Paschal, staff writers and photographers must be aware of the daily events occurring in and around our school. The PANTHER is an over-all view of the diversities and diversions of Paschal High School.

Left: At Christmas time the entire MUHRD staff presented Miss Rhodes with a 10-gallon aquarium full of "little fishies." Top: TWO EDS ARE BETTER THAN ONE!! WELL . . . Co-editors Gretchen Schulkey and Leigh Ann Porcher are partners in crime. Right: SO THIS IS WHY THE BOOK IS BLANK. Everyone needs a break from the monotony — even the photographers. Danny Davis, Don Jett, Pammie Roach, and Hugh Redd clown around in Paschal's darkroom.

schal's faculty is as varied as its student body. Our teachers' different educational backgrounds reflect many teaching concepts. We are deeply indebted to these individuals for providing us with the opportunities for self-expression through learning.

Science teachers Mr. William Brazzil and Mr. Tracy Wilmoth prepare to register students for the upcoming quarter.

Mr. Miller Displays Sincere Interest

In his third year at Paschal, Mr. Ralph W. Miller strives to personalize his relationship with staff and pupils. He attempts to accomplish this goal by using his lunch break strolling through the front foyer, conversing with both student and faculty. In the course of a conversation, Mr. Miller will often ask a student about his classes, grades, and achievements because he wishes to acquaint himself with all members of Paschal society. Mr. Miller's main objective at Paschal is to shape and prepare students for life. He wants PHS to produce young men and women who will benefit both society and themselves.

Vice-principals Share Responsibilities

Vice-principals Mr. Johnny Rumfield, Miss Merle Walker, and Mr. Earl Conrad share many responsibilities in attending to the students of Paschal. Each is responsible for attendance and discipline of an assigned group.

In addition to these duties each vice-principal carries another job, making their offices responsible for registration, locker assignments, and textbook distribution. Together the vice-principals also organize graduation exercises. Above all else however, they share the responsibility of listening to the student's needs and problems, helping out in any way possible.

School Board Occupied With Bond Issue

Faced with a new bond issue, the School Board busied itself with an investigation of possible appropriations for the revenue. Many of the possibilities greatly concern the high schools of Fort Worth. Capital procured through the bond would probably be used to improve the physical education departments of all high schools. Some other allocations affecting Paschal students are an advanced foreign language school and a school dedicated solely to the arts. These innovations will be made available by the proposed "open school" system now under investigation by the Board and administration.

UHSC Liaison for Administration

Administrators this year have shown a great interest in the United High School Council as a source of solutions and suggestions. The administration has tried to work closely with the UHSC in carrying out the programs and changes suggested. In turn the Council supplies the administration with student reaction from the representatives' schools.

One project the administration is working on this year is the idea of an open school system which would allow students to transfer from their "home" schools to a different school during the day for one or more periods, still graduating from and participating in the "home" school. This policy would enable students enrolling in a class not offered at Paschal to return to finish the day in a regular schedule.

Reading, Drama Stress Individual Achievement

Paschal's Developmental Reading Lab enables students to become more flexible readers. Students strive to improve their rate, vocabulary, and listening skills. More advanced readers, those who read more than 450 words per minute, work on skimming and scanning techniques. The reading program is a flexible one in that students progress at their own discretion. A test given at the beginning and at the end of the quarter evaluates each student's progress.

Drama classes at Paschal study characterization and movement; whereas the Forensic class works on material for competition. Culmination of the advanced drama class was the presentation of a melodrama. Included in the drama department are speech classes in which the students learn the principles of debate and the correct manner of public speaking.

English Teachers Stress Creative Writing

The English curriculum has been revamped to apply to career goals and intellectual pursuits. English teachers have encouraged PHS students to enter creative writing contests: the National Essay Contest and the National Poetry Contest. Paschal students have submitted many entries.

Several changes took place in the English Department. A new addition to the faculty is Mrs. Glazer, who teaches freshman English. Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Powell offer freshmen the opportunity to participate in the team teaching program. A major change saw the combining of British History and British literature to form the Modern British Studies class.

Language Department Compares Cultures

Comparing the cultures of various foreign countries was one of the main objectives of this year's language department. The comparative cultures course, taught cooperatively by all of the language teachers, included a study of the language, social customs, cuisine, music, dance, and travel interests of Germany, France, Mexico, Spain, Russia, and Israel. The course began with a study of Roman Civilization. Comparative Cultures students also attended extra-curricular programs concerning the six countries they studied. This pilot program adds a new dimension to the foreign language curriculum.

Music and Art Strive to Develop Talents

Development of the pupils' finer talents and interests is the aim of the Art and Music Departments. The Art Department recognizes the importance of student involvement in the community and enters pupils' work in such exhibitions as the Armadillo Art Festival and Mayfest. The department has purchased new machinery for jewelry production and a new loom has been acquired and moved to the new art room annex under the supervision of Miss Stallard. While the Art Department is changing, the Music Department has found a winning formula which produced a Chorus and Band both taking city honors.

Upper Right: Music enthusiasts, Mr. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Pat Atkinson, display two of their many talents. ## Skills Developed in Industrial Arts Industrial Arts at Paschal allows the interested student to become familiar with the available areas of metal and wood working. The fields of metal shop, wood shop, power mechanics, and drafting aim toward both utility and a future in industrial skills.

Attempting to increase the size of the department, the instructors are hoping to separate power mechanics and metal work by adding a laboratory-type class to next year's program.

Top: While in his last year at Paschal, A. D. Pickett, one of North Texas' most productive woodworking teachers, instructs an advanced student how to make a cut. Center: Comprising the Industrial Arts Department are: Mr. David McGee, Mr. James Jenkins, Mr. A. D. Pickett, Mr. Lowell Templin. Lower: YOU'LL GET YOUR TURN . . . Mr. Jenkins demonstrates a cutting torch to a student.

Tests Evaluate Math Students

The math department initiated a new method of evaluating the progress of students taking geometry, algebra, trigonometry, and elementary analysis. Evaluation tests, made up by teachers in the department, were given halfway through each of the three quarters. These tests gave the effectiveness of the teaching methods and the degree to which the students were absorbing the mathematical curriculum.

The department also felt that those students with outstanding mathematical ability should be honored. Accordingly at the end of each quarter, award tests were given to selected students. A separate test was made up for each of the math courses. The winners in each course were recognized.

Science Soars to New Heights

The science department offered aviation for the first time during the 1974-1975 school year. The aviation class is a ground school which provides the students with the fundamentals for becoming pilots. The students learn the physics of flying, basic navigation, radio navigation, the systems of airplanes, and the Federal Aeronautics Administration regulations. They even take orientation flights in low-powered, single engine aircraft. Upon the completion of this course, the students should be able to pass the pilot's license test.

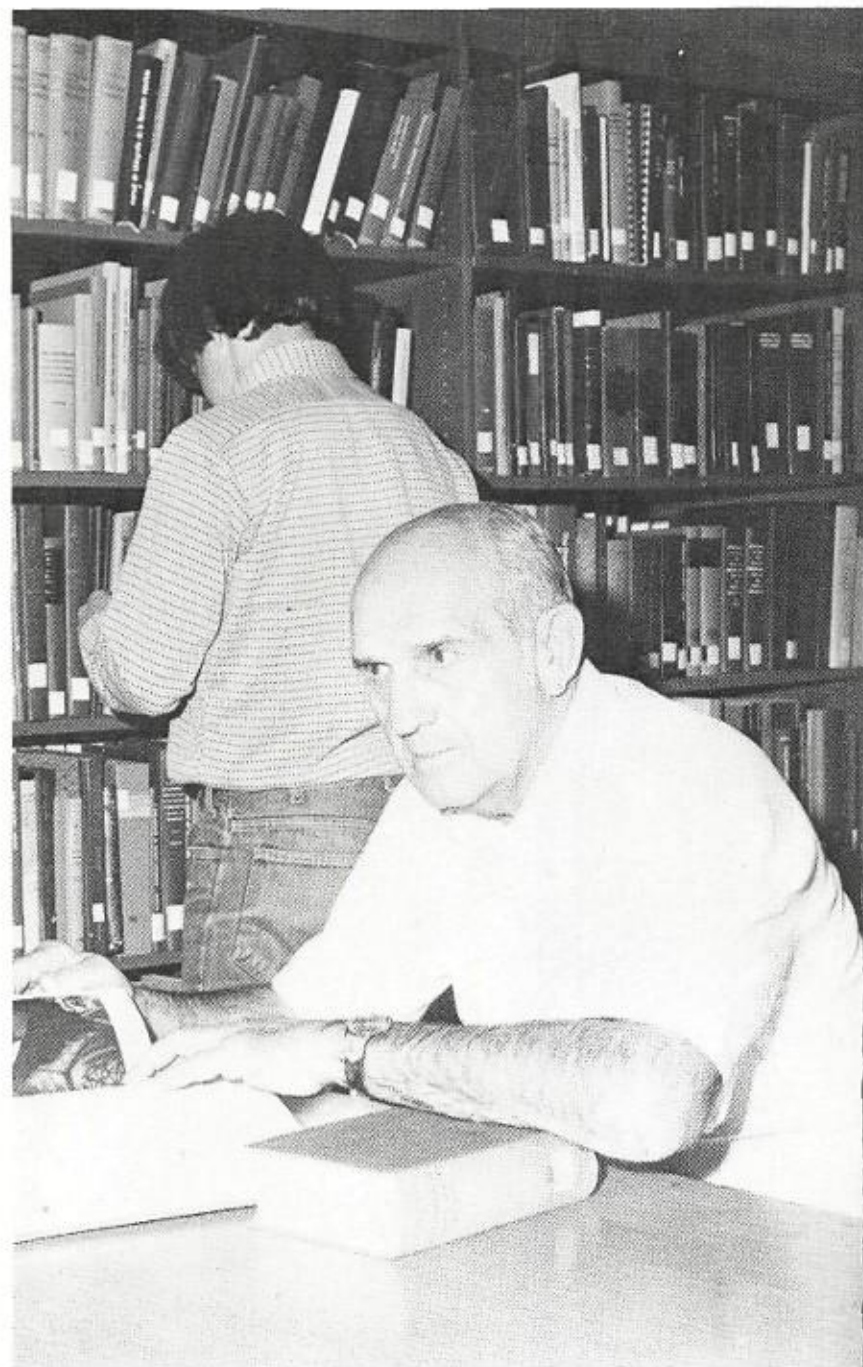

Several innovations occurred in the physics classes and the advanced biology classes. Mr. Tave placed orders to replace all of the missing physics equipment and he intends to order an electrostatic generator. The advanced biology classes studied genetics, using fruit flies as experimental subjects. Students also studied hematology using blood samples from area hospitals.

Upper Left: Among Mrs. Alma Simon's career possibilities was a pathology-related job. Lower Right: OFF WE GO INTO THE WILD BLUE YONDER, says Mr. Arthur Tave, who had thought about becoming a military pilot. Upper Right: The physics and physical science teachers are Mr. Arthur Tave, Mrs. Mary Darnell, Mrs. Alma Simon, Mr. Clyde Prior, Miss Fayette Baszille. Lower Left: Front Row: Mrs. Ola Wilson. Row 2: Mr. William Brazzil, Mr. Louis Hudgins, Mrs. Mary Couch, and Mr. Arthur Lotspeich. Back Row: Mr. Gerald Wall and Mr. Tracy Wilmoth. Upper Center: MY, WHAT BIG TEETH YOU HAVE, LITTLE GIRL. ## Elective Courses Enrich History Department

Elective courses have been a main concern of the Social Studies department this year. Each year more elective courses are being opened to students. This year the student can choose from such courses as consumer economics, European studies, current issues, and psychology, each designed to broaden the pupils' knowledge of social behavior. In the footsteps of the American Culture and Thought comes Modern British Studies. As ACT combined American History and American English, both required of juniors, MBS combines English with an English history course. These two classes offer the student a coordinated curriculum.

Above: American History teachers include Mrs. Marjory Philp, Mr. Robert Bennett, Mrs. Leola Curtis, Mr. Bill Frohm, Miss Doris Henderson, Mrs. Inez Rambo, Mr. Charlie Turner, and Mr. Julien Saylor. Below: Expounding on an important facet of British history, Mrs. Philp lectures to her Modern British Studies class.

Coach Jim Wall Awarded Coach of the Year

Coach Jim Wall received AAAA-10 Coach of the Year during the 1975 season because of the excellent team he has developed. The expertise with which Coach Wall trained his charges paid off, despite pre-season predictions, favoring Southwest, Coach Wall's boys not only won district but were undefeated in district play. In post-district play the roundballers won bi-district, regionals and proceeded to the state finals where they were beaten by only two points. The Paschal basketball team has had a most successful year, receiving many team and individual awards due to the dedication and coaching ability of the Coach.

Athletics at Paschal offer the student an outlet for his many tensions. Varied sports and activities allow for maximum participation. The Athletic Department believes both the body and mind must be developed in the complete student. Health classes teach pupils about the human body and proper methods of care. Through the combined efforts of the Athletic and Health departments, the student increases his knowledge of the body and puts that knowledge into practice developing both physically as well as mentally.

PE Incorporates Aerobics Program

In an effort to improve physical education in high schools, Paschal now participates in the Aerobics Fitness Program. Following guidelines set forth by this program, all students participate in a variety of athletic tests and individual results are recorded. Charts made from the data received pinpoint the strengths and weaknesses of the PE curriculum and set goals for individual achievement. With this knowledge, Coach Adrian Clark and his staff strive to provide the most adequate physical education possible.

Girls PE Concentrates on Sports Competition

Coeducational physical education classes were offered to Paschal students this year. Students enrolled in these classes concentrated on volleyball and archery for a two-week period each and spent the remainder of the quarter working on tennis, golf, weight room, and softball. Among their activities were several recreational sports such as ping pong and horseshoes. Advanced sports classes provided Paschalites with the opportunity of improving their skills in basketball, softball, volleyball, and gym-o-rama. This class promoted competition among local high schools in these areas. Several tennis classes were also offered to teach basic skills to beginners and give advanced beginners and intermediates a chance to improve their skills through practice. Girls' physical education catered to the needs of the individuals during the 1974-75 school year.

Upper: While in school, Miss Marti Powell thought her future might involve secretarial work. Lower Left: LEONARDO DA VINCI STEP ASIDE! ## Business Classes Reach Out to Students

The aim for this year's Business Department is designated by the theme "reach out." The note-hand classes were designed to appeal to the non-business students. A definite upsurge of students desired to take bookkeeping. Five sections of bookkeeping were offered whereas six years ago only two sections were needed. For those students who wanted to prepare for jobs in work processing centers, the advanced typing classes provided training in the use of transcribing machines. The shorthand classes were made available for those students desiring a stenography background.

Pass-Fail typing classes are available for juniors and seniors, and these classes were very well received this year. The business teachers' 1974-75 goals include making typing one a pass-fail class also.

Upper Left: GUILTY AS CHARGED! Mrs. Jane King, once saw her future in law. Upper Right: Although Miss Letha Owens is now a typing teacher, she once thought about entering the medical field. Lower Left: The PHS business teachers are: Standing: Mr. Kenneth Wright, Mrs. Jean Welch, Mrs. Echols (substitute), Miss Mary Smith, Mrs. LaTonne Enright, and Mrs. Martha Flemmons. Seated: Mrs. Jane King, Mrs. Margaret Huntley, and Miss Letha Owens. Lower Right: Mrs. LaTonne Enright, who considered making fashion merchandizing her career, goes over some invoices with Belinda of Belinda's Clothes Closet.

Recession Has No Affect On Vocational Department

Inflation and unemployment did not hinder the Vocational Department's ability to acquire training stations for their students. Many employers decided to hire more part-time help instead of a complete staff of expensive full-time workers. Aside from this, employers found fulfillment in playing a part in the education of Paschal students and encouraging young people to contemplate a future in their particular fields.

Paschal's Vocational Department consists of Home Economics Cooperative Education which provides jobs in food service, child care, and floral design and Vocational Office Education which offered training stations in secretarial work, bookkeeping, and clerical work. Distributive Education acquired jobs for those students interested in advertising, display, and merchandizing. Health Occupations allowed students to work as nursing assistants, ward clerks, physical therapy assistants, and respiratory, x-ray, lab, or surgery assistants. The Vocational Department also offers child development in which students gain experience in working with elementary school children. Coordinated Vocational Academic Education consists of a food service branch and an office education branch.

Counseling at Paschal has been diversified through a revamping of personnel. New goals have been incorporated into objectives. The Careers Planning Center is an example of the Counselors' new purposes. Students are allowed to enter the center and view filmstrips on new, original, and profitable careers, few requiring college degrees. A special counselor is provided to oversee the careers center and guide students to a suitable career. Along with the new responsibilities the counselors are in charge of a tremendous amount of paper work and many class activities ranging from class picnics to the senior dinner-dance.

Professionals Offer Valuable Services

Paschal's office crew begins the school year long before teachers and students arrive on the scene in order to insure the availability of bulletins, schedules, and other information sheets. Throughout the year the attendance office also processes and retains vital information on students. Contributing to Paschal's over-all program of the best education for the greatest number are the librarians, the nurse, and the community aides.

Top Left: ACCORDING TO OUR RECORDS . . . ## Cafeteria Staff Serves Early Morning Snacks

For a large school like Paschal to function effectively, a quality maintenance staff is needed. Paschal has two maids and four custodians who see that the school is clean and functions smoothly. A night crew of eight maintains the building after the close of each school day.

Paschal's Cafeteria Staff arrives early to sell donuts and snacks during the first two class periods before preparing and serving lunch. The large cafeteria serves both hot and cold meals while the small cafeteria deals mainly in snacks and cold lunches.

Upper: Paschal's Maids are: Mrs. Audrey Garrett and Mrs. Jewell Bond. Lower: The Large Cafeteria Staff includes: Front Row: Mrs. Ruby Johnson, Mrs. Maurine White, Mrs. Pinkie Mae Clark, and Mrs. Louise

The text "Miss Paschal" is written vertically on the right side of the image.

Judy May

Stan and Judy — Mr. and Miss Paschal

Stan Kriesberg, a favorite among students and faculty, combines wit and intelligence to form his unique personality. Notorious for his hilarious morning announcements, Stan amuses and notifies students of upcoming school activities. He is treasurer of the Leadership Committee and often supplies comic relief to school government.

Stan sees that many of the small necessary school duties are performed such as the raising and lowering of the flag. As one of a few students who can boast a perfect four point academic record, Stan is an asset to any classroom situation. Because of his ability to lead Paschal and unify many admirable qualities, Stan Kriesberg is Mr. Paschal.

Stan Kriesberg aids the community by picking up trash in the city-wide Greener and Cleaner Program.

Judy May receives the highest honor that is given to a student, that of Miss Paschal. One seldom meets Judy without noticing her warm, ever-present smile and natural friendliness. Because of her active membership in the Student Council, Judy was elected to the Senior Cabinet. As cheerleader she supports all school functions.

Membership in the National Honor Society and a high grade point average testify to Judy's scholastic aptitude. Athletically inclined, she has won district in Girls' Tennis Singles the last two years. Her never-ending optimism and total school involvement have made her most deserving the title of Miss Paschal, 1975.

In a leap of spirit and enthusiasm, Judy May rallies both team and crowd during a football game.

Seniors Select Finalists

Chosen by the senior class of 1975 as Mr. and Miss Paschal finalists, Debbie Tseng and John Schlicher are known for their good natures and delightful personalities.

Always on the scene and frequently in the spotlight, Carolyn Stevenson and Hugh Redd are Mr. and Miss Paschal finalists as well as Favorite finalists.

Outstanding Students Commended

The 1975 yearbook staff recognizes outstanding members of the student body as Very Important Panthers. These individuals have received various awards for qualities such as civil service, academic excellence and charm. They exhibit talents and abilities which are the result of long hours of diligent practice and self discipline. All of these exceptional students bring honor and pride to Paschal.

Above: Gretchen Schulkey and Leigh Ann Porcher receive special recognition for being co-editors of the Panther. Upper Right: Paschal is fortunate to have several National Merit Semifinalists. They are Stuart Rosenthal, Chip Webb, Sharon Snodgrass, Linda Guy, Sarah Buntin, and Patty Smith. Below: Forensic Club members won state debating honors. # Judy and Ben Deserving Favorites

Ben Noey is the Favorite for the Senior Class of 1975. His photography and writing for the Pantherette staff exemplifies his uniqueness and creativity. This bearded wonder is a member of PSOP, and spends his free time listening to music and participating in rodeo events.

Judy May is the Senior choice for Favorite in 1975. Her vivacious personality and untiring school spirit have won her many honors and awards. Judy is a cheerleader, Sports Follies Queen, and National Honor Society Member. She has been district tennis champion for the last two years but still finds time for swimming, diving, and horseback riding.

Difficult Choice Between Favorites

John Schlicher and Carolyn Stevenson, Favorite Finalists for the Senior Class of 1975, demonstrate exceptional abilities in sports and leadership. John, an all district guard in basketball and a member of the National Honor Society, enjoys hunting and water skiing. Carolyn, active in Junior Debs and Grayettes, finds pleasure in both singing and creative dancing, while serving as president of the Black Task Force organization.

Constantly involved in various school and extracurricular activities, Favorite finalists Hugh Redd and Carole Cramm typify student enthusiasm and interest. Hugh is a member of the Leadership Committee, annual staff, and president of PSOP. His hobbies include photography, bicycling, and camping. Because of Carole's pizzazz and witty personality, she was elected a member of PSOP and chosen as Golf Queen of the Sports Follies. She also enjoys ballet and snow skiing.

Juniors Choose Mitch and Liz

Liz Henry, junior favorite 1975, is well known for her school spirit and amiable personality. A highly dedicated person, Liz is a student of Health Occupations and works as a medical assistant in an orthopedic clinic. Apart from her many school activities, she is an avid gymnast.

Junior Favorite 1975 is Mitch Rios, an enthusiastic participant in many of Paschal's activities. A football letterman, Mitch also likes to fish. Mitch is a member of the Aviation Explorer Group and the German Club.

Finalists Draw Heavy Vote

Liz Stephan and Clay Bibb, junior favorite finalists of 1975, are indeed indicative of the high quality of the class of '76. Clay, who enjoys hunting and fishing, also has lettered in basketball this year. Liz, who has worked as a volunteer teacher's aid at George C. Clark Elementary School, enjoys cooking and bicycle riding in her free time.

Julia Hull and Gary Froman, finalists for favorite 1975, are noted for their contributions to Paschal's athletic teams. Both are two-year lettermen: Gary in football and Julia in tennis. Julia, an honor student, is a member of the Young Republicans. In his spare time, Gary, who is also on the honor roll, likes to fish.

Soph Favorites Sports Minded

Patty Felts, sophomore favorite 1975, is active in all types of sports and has won awards for her participation on various gymnastics teams. She enjoys soccer, tennis, and motorcycles, but also finds time for some swimming and diving. Patty is an active member of her church activities.

Sports shape the life of sophomore favorite Eugene Moore. He has lettered in football and track, while outside of school Eugene enjoys jogging, basketball, bicycling, and horseback riding. Apart from being active in athletics, Eugene enjoys playing the tuba in his spare time.

Finalists Involved at PHS

Dino Asebedo and Kathy Scheideman are involved in school and many extracurricular activities. While track and football occupy Dino's time, Kathy enjoys being on the tennis team, Student Council, and the Morning Thought Committee. Outside of school, Kathy and Dino enjoy water skiing and horseback riding.

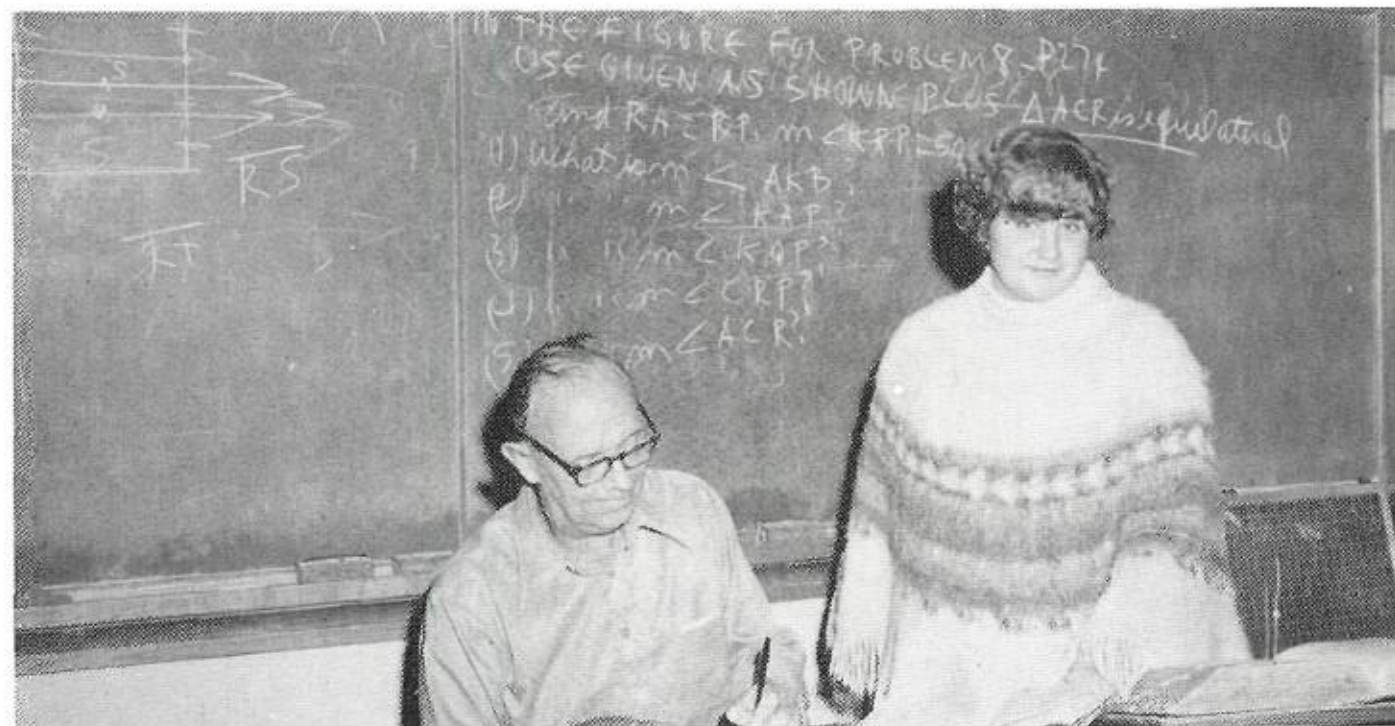

Leadership, scholastic aptitude, sports abilities and varied hobbies fill the lives of sophomore favorite finalists Nada Wise and Steve Jones. Nada is a member of the Leadership Committee and has received Penta Club awards. Steve participates in sports as a member of the baseball team both here at Paschal and at his church.

Biology Offers Challenge

Mr. Brazil -
I enjoyed being in your Biology 2 class, & ~~truthfully~~ truthfully,
- it was my best class this year. I hope you stick around next year, but if not, I hope you have a good summer & let's cheer the Rangers on to the World Series! (I hope)

Beth, Bryan Chosen '75 Favorites

Freshman choice for favorite this year is Bryan Collins. Bryan, athletically inclined, plays on Paschal's freshman football team and on his church's basketball team. When school activities allow, he relaxes by hunting and fishing.

Beth Chubbuck is the 1975 freshman class choice for favorite. Beth, representative of her homeroom, is a member of PAWS, Young Life, Campaigners, and involved in her church youth group. In her free time, Beth participates in snow and water skiing, swimming, tennis, and horseback riding.

Freshmen Choose 1975 Finalists

Jody Norman and Cindy Cruz, both involved in Paschal's activities, are freshman favorite finalists for 1975. Jody plays on the freshman basketball team, runs track, and enjoys fishing, golfing, and bicycling. Cindy belongs to PAWS, likes to ride horses, and through her musical ability has won national honors in piano competition.

This year's favorite finalists include Sherry Windegger and Kyle Bibb. Sherry, an honor student, is a student council member and a member of PAWS. In her free time she likes sailing, tennis, water skiing, and needlepoint. Kyle, also an honor student, plays basketball on the freshman team and participates in Young Life. His hobbies include swimming and bicycling.

Mr. Brazzile,

I really have enjoyed being in your Biology I & II classes. I really have learned quite a bit, and it's been fun. Have fun this summer and stay away from ladders & high places.

Mr. Brazzile,
Thanks for being such a nice and kind person to me.
You are a very good teacher.
You love kids and we know
it, cause you show it all the time. I have enjoyed being in your biology class, even though I don't show it, I have learned more than the first day
I came in here and it's been fun. Hope you have a happy &
safe summer. You are a great teacher. See you
next year hopefully.
Good luck in the future.

Broad Curriculum Offers Diverse Learning Opportunities

Activities Help Students Find Their Niche

you are one of the nicest teachers at Paschal. I have only known you for 2 trimesters but I have enjoyed and learned something in Biology. Have a nice summer & don't get hurt. I hope you come back to Paschal, because if you don't they are losing a very nice person. Your class has been most interesting. Good luck and if you come back remember me and if you do, see you next fall.
